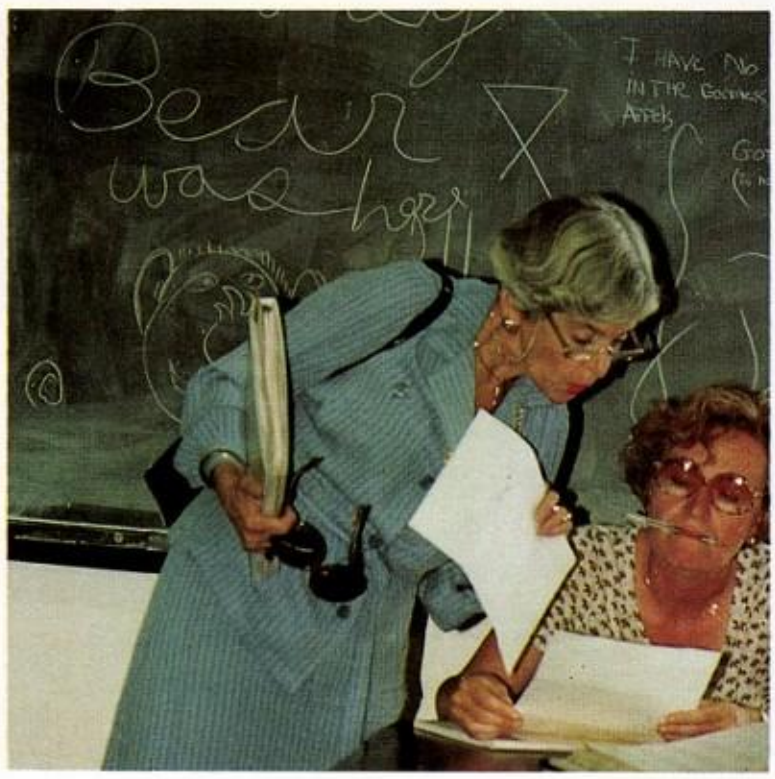
DEDICATION:

RHEA WOLFRAM



College counseling is important for any school, and particularly for Greenhill. In 1972, Rhea Wolfram became Greenhill's part-time counselor. Since then, she has spent many hours with students and college representatives. She is respected throughout the country and has done much to augment Greenhill's reputation as an academic institution of high quality.

Mrs. Wolfram's success comes from her ability to communicate and work with people. She is always cheerful, with a smile and a kind word for anyone who approaches her. She takes time to get to know the students and lends a personal touch to her counseling. She is much loved at Greenhill.

The senior class is proud to dedicate the 1978 edition of the Cavalcade to Rhea Wolfram.

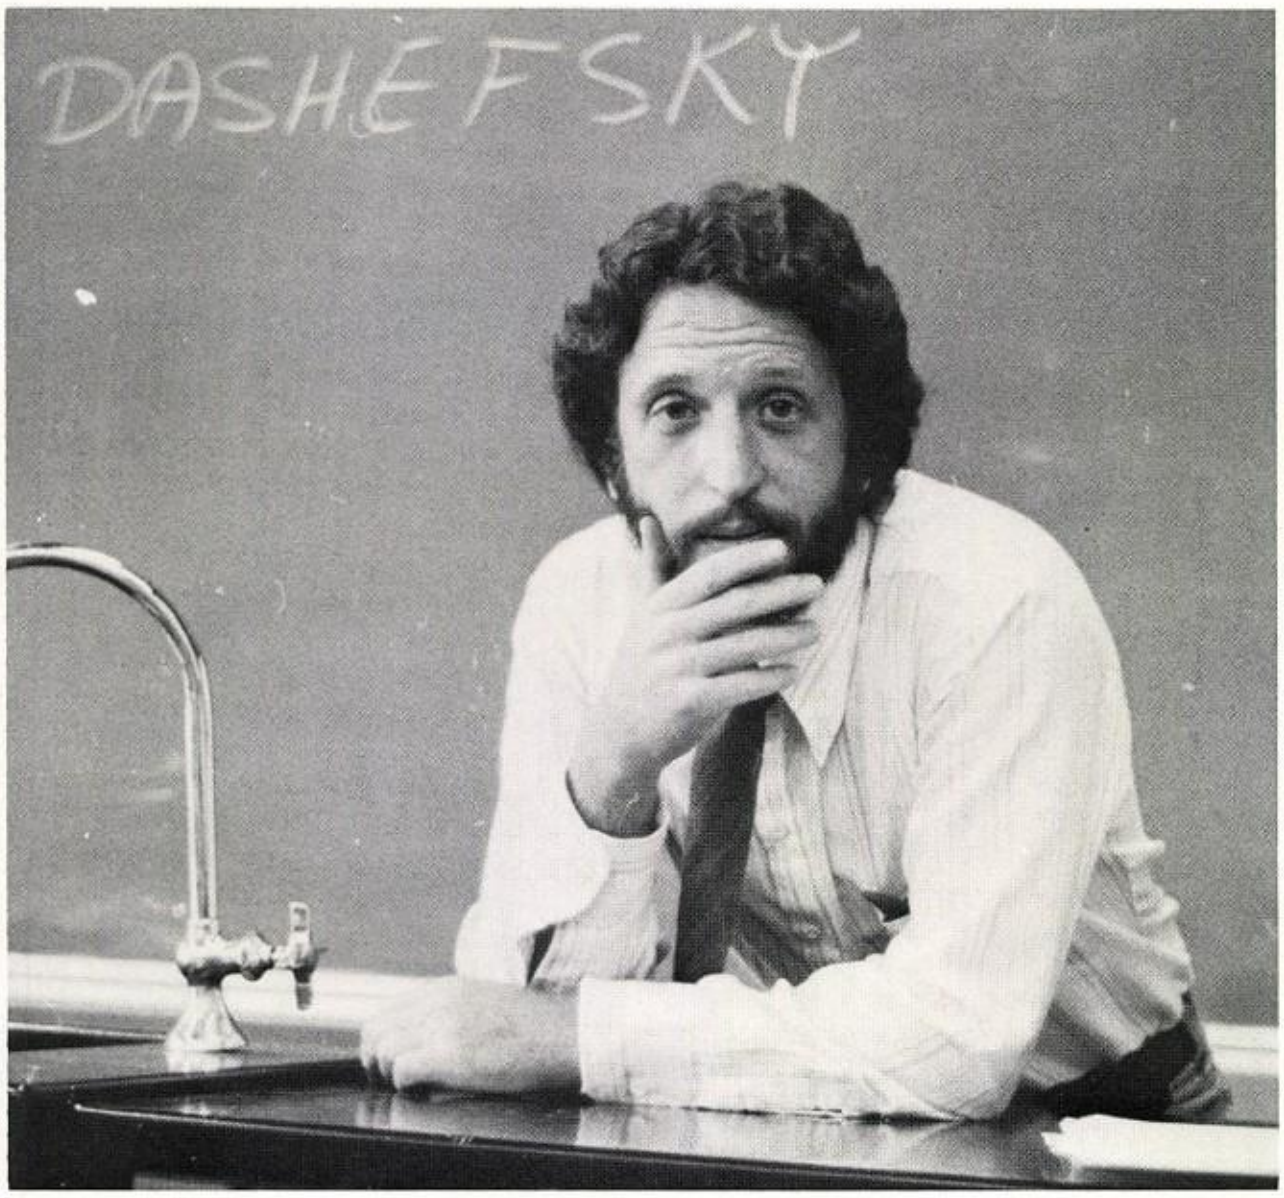
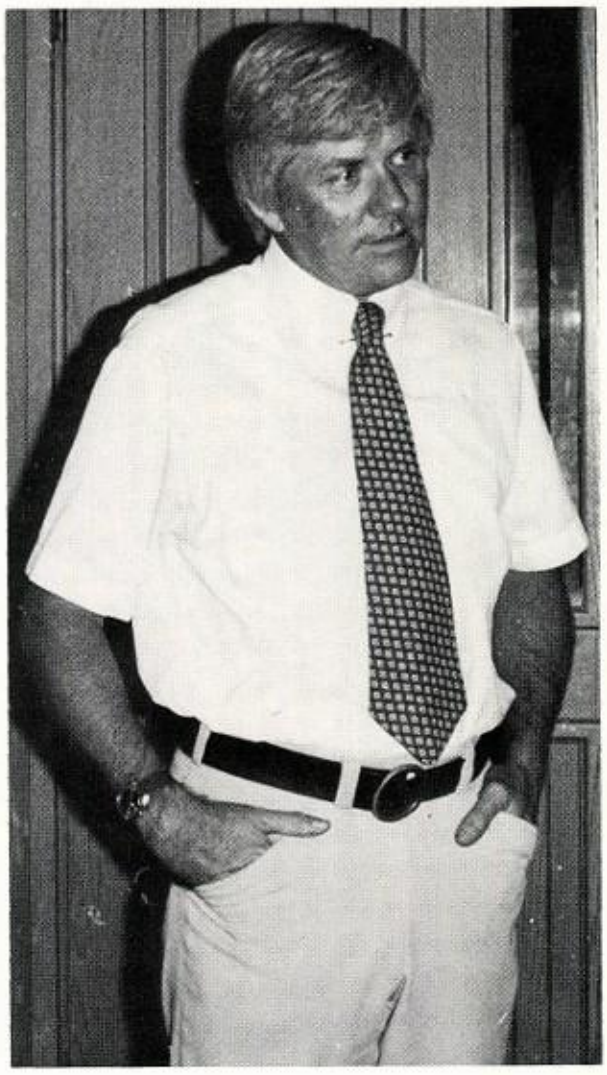
FACULTY

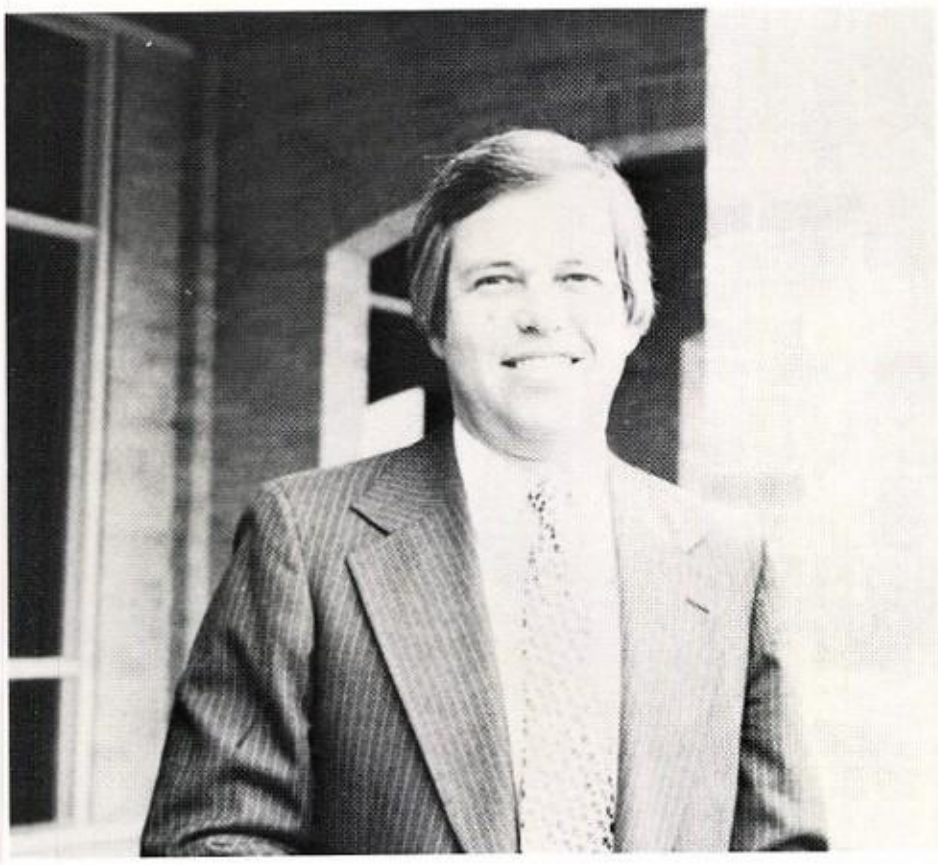


Phillip Foote

The position of headmaster carries with it a set of predetermined responsibilities. However, there are aspects of the job which are left up to the individual. Mr. Foote feels that the most important thing to remember while in an administrative position is to keep an overall perspective of Greenhill's aims and purposes. He feels that he cannot let himself be limited to an emotional level while making decisions. He also feels, along with other members of the faculty, that the most rewarding experience in teaching is to see what happens to people you have helped to challenge and develop. He works with systems, structures, and the curriculum in an effort to make Greenhill the best preparatory school in the country. He is pleased by the commitment made by the faculty, the board of directors, the students, and their families to improve the quality of life for everyone on the campus. When he was asked what was the most difficult goal to accomplish, he replied, "The continuation of the welding together of all the different people and ideals that make Greenhill an effective institution."



The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees



Mr. Robert D. Rogers, Chairman

The Administrators

The administration is considered to be responsible for making sure the school runs smoothly. This job often entails more than what initially comes to mind. This year, as in past years, there seems to be emphasis on making the administration more accessible to the students. Many administrators feel that they cannot effectively operate a school without being in close contact with the students themselves. While their duties range from admissions to heads of schools, the administrators' common goal is to have, in the end, an efficiently run school.

The quotes on the following pages in this section are from student-administrator and student-teacher interviews at Greenhill School.

Upper School Faculty:

Different Goals; Different Ways of Accomplishing Them

The Upper School faculty not only teach their respective subjects and stay on top of their advisees' grades and problems, but also consider many questions dealing with college. With these tasks and other non-academic activities the teachers were kept extremely busy this year. Many were sponsors of clubs or literary organizations. Also, there were two faculty sponsors for each grade, which entailed anything from cooking hot dogs to helping with baccalaureate services.

Several teachers expressed the feeling that it is very rewarding to see students finally understand something which previously they had been unable to grasp. They also felt that to have a former student come back, tell them that what they taught them had helped and thank them for being there, was a tremendous compliment.

"The most important thing to remember while teaching is that kids are humans too, they have emotions just like the teacher, so be patient."

"The most difficult goals to accomplish are to remain open, to always have a new way of seeing and doing things, and to keep growing intellectually and emotionally."

"The most important things to remember while teaching are that you're human, you make mistakes, and you have to keep your sense of humor."

"Most of the goals in education are hard to achieve because they are intangible goals, those of the mind-expanding process."

Middle School Faculty Concentrates on Individual Needs

The middle school faculty found themselves doing a number of activities which might not normally be considered a part of the academic curriculum. They cheered on the middle school teams at athletic events. Some helped sell fudge-o-grams. Some teachers attended dances while others found themselves actually camping out. All of the activities were done with spirit. Most of the teachers expressed a desire that the courses they were teaching would have relevance to the students in future years. To accomplish this, lesson plans had to be carefully reviewed and each student's needs had to be considered. The middle school faculty almost all agreed that the most rewarding teaching experience was to see a student suddenly become interested and enjoy his or her newly found interest.

Lower School Faculty

Working with lower schoolers often poses some special challenges. The teachers have to help each student develop a desire to learn which must remain with the student for years to come. Even as early as the first grade, a student's strengths and weaknesses are evident. The teachers begin to encourage the students to pursue their interests. Helping them to express themselves is another challenge. Concerning their future education, the influence the lower school faculty has on the children is tremendous.

PRESCHOOL FACULTY COMBINES PATIENCE AND SENSE OF HUMOR

The Preschool teachers did not have trimester exams to grade or research papers to discuss, yet, their year was event-filled and busy. There was a Christmas program to plan and a field day in the spring. Field trips and the day-to-day educational plans had to be organized.

Besides making sure their finger-painting techniques were correct and up-to-date, the preschool faculty also had to make sure they were meeting the needs of the children in the best way possible. Mrs. Fleming, head of the preschool, spent time making sure the preschool was an active part of the Greenhill community.

Each teacher put time, effort, and thought into teaching. The following quotes, in particular ways, show how each member of the faculty regarded his work.

"The most difficult goals to accomplish are to make sure each child is happy with himself, to understand his limitations, and to have in mind a realistic growth (for the child)."

Dorothy Auverman
Kathryn Benson
Jill Bonti
Kerry Brown

"It is important to establish an academic intimacy so that a child will feel comfortable enough to express himself without fear of making mistakes, and through this process grow."

"The most important things to remember while teaching are that you're dealing with an impressionable age (group); you can't use last year's plan because you have to satisfy the children's needs differently."

Karyl Gindling
Pat McGee
Emily McLaughlin

P.E. Department Teaches Different Kind of Lesson

The P.E. teachers come in contact with more wide-ranging age groups than any of the other faculty members. Depending on the time, they can be seen teaching the various hoola-hoop techniques to first graders, yoga to eighth graders, or the different forms of a jump shot to basketball players. When the sports they teach are in season they often spend far longer than an eight hour work day. Even more so than in a classroom situation, the coaches have to concentrate on not letting their goals for the teams interfere with what the individuals can actually achieve. While most students are comfortable in the classroom, many find the support they receive from coaches and teammates an irreplacable part of the school environment.

"It's important to help each player reach his highest level of ability in skills, knowledge and understanding of the sport, as well as personal character development."

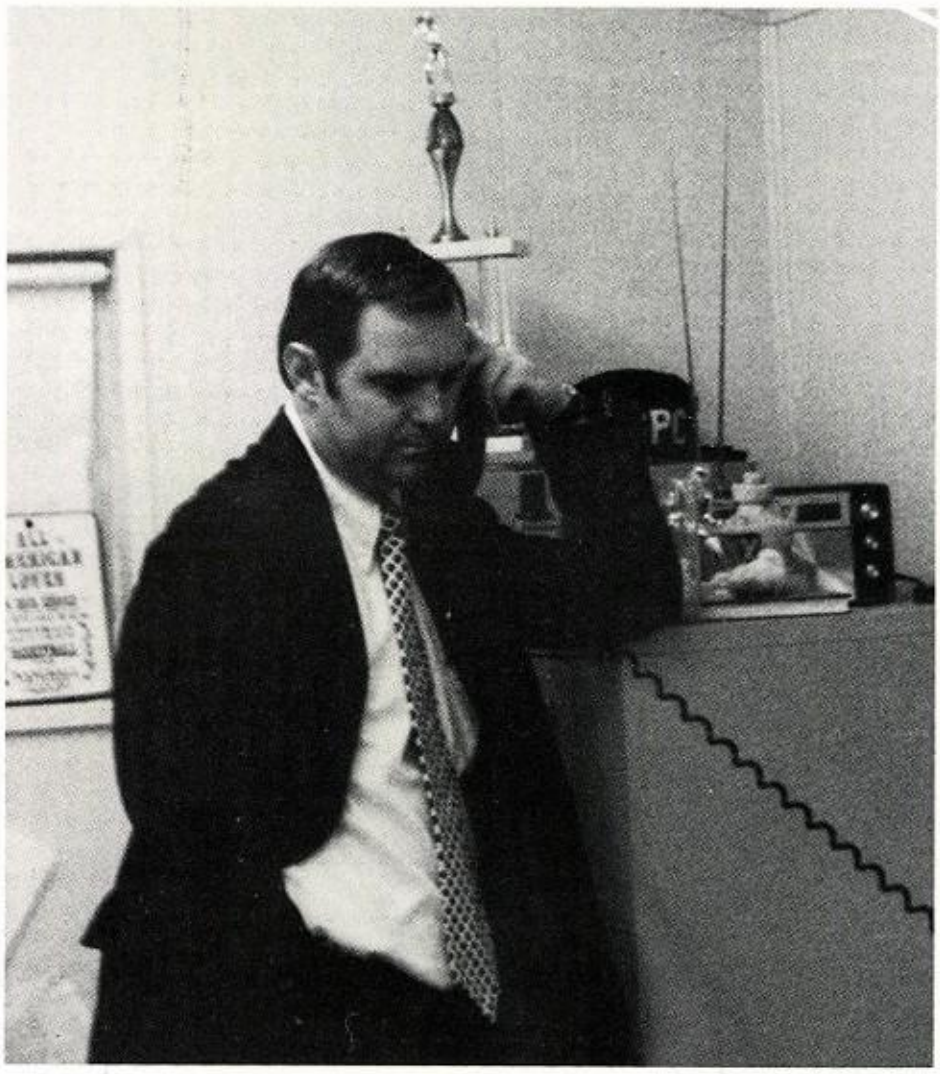
"Growing adolescents, who spend ten or more hours a day away from home, enjoy mutually close relationships other than with home figures."



Librarians

The library is playing a more and more important role in the Greenhill community as the years go by. The Librarians show the younger students how to use the reference area and the card catalogue effectively. Much time has to be spent on the selection of the books which are chosen for our library. The decisions have to be made on what type of books the students use and which ones are most helpful. As the library's role grows, the Librarians' responsibilities towards making the library for everyone's use, increases. They are doing an excellent job.

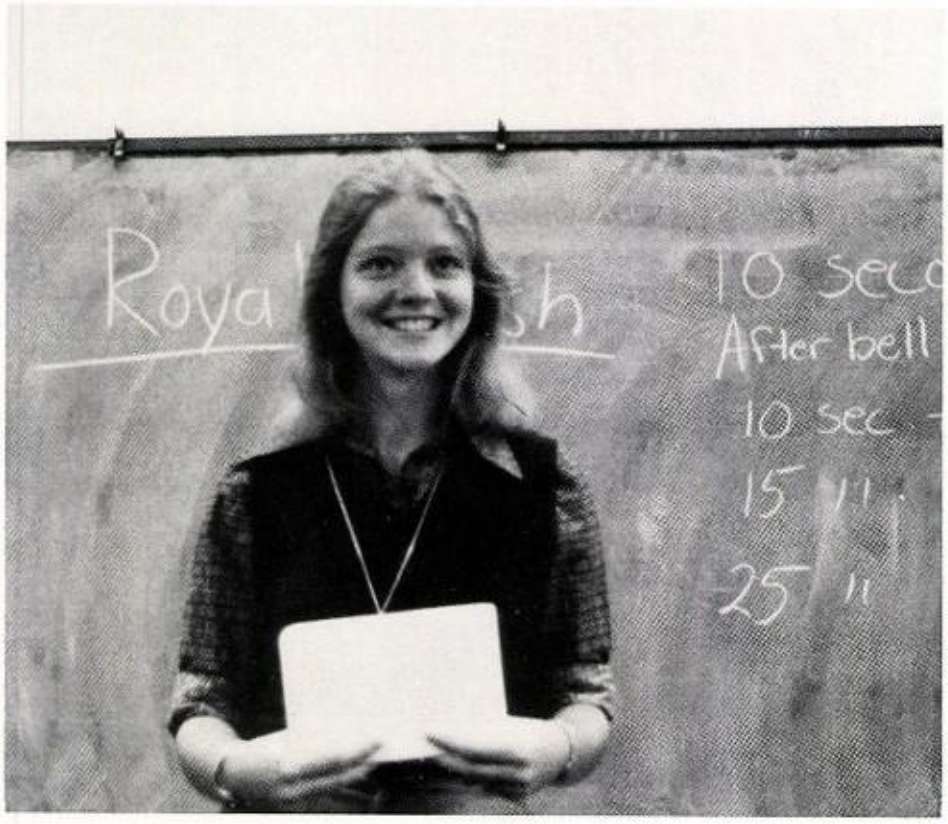
ACTIVITIES

HALLOWEEN — IT WAS ENOUGH TO SCARE YOU!

Greenhill celebrated ghoulishly on Halloween. Little spooks and spirits haunted the campus during their annual parade. Upper Schoolers were even more fiendish than usual when they came to school as supernatural beings.



QUIZBOWL

The student council promoted several quizbowls this year. The quizbowls were held, by and large, during free assembly periods so that more people could attend. The two teams that made it to the finals consisted of Don Uloth, David Kupfer, Darren Barnett, and Jeff Epstein against Hamilton Rial, Doug Uloth, Barry Epstein, and Fiona McCracken. The latter team won!

Top: Susan Falkenstein.
Middle: Darren Barnett, Jeff Epstein, David Kupfer, and Don Uloth.
Below: Fiona McCracken, Barry Epstein, Dough Uloth, and Hamilton Rial.

Homecoming

Greenhill Homecoming Week was hectic as usual. After five days of dressing up, the Mortarboard Dinner, and the Homecoming Game, the Greenhill students still had enough strength to celebrate with a dance. The cheerleaders picked themes for the dress-up days, such as comic strip character day, and teacher look alike day. There was everything from Snoopy to Mickey Mouse! And, of course, there was a Homecoming Queen — Brianna Boswell.

The third annual Freshman Wilderness trip left Greenhill on August 18th. Although the trip was non-mandatory, there were enough spunky 9th graders who wished to go. The trip took place in the Colorado Mountains, near Lake City. The base was the Earthrider Camp, which provided guides to lead the groups of teachers and students. The teachers that went were Mr. Terry, Mr. Piel, Mr. Fulton, and Mrs. Kuykendall. Besides backpacking and generally roughing it, each group climbed Mount Uncompahgre, a fifteen thousand foot mountain — all survived! Despite the high altitude sickness, unusual eating conditions, and the unaccustomed weight of the backpacks, most of the group enjoyed the trip and thought that it was worthwhile.

Speakers Enrich Our Lives

Greenhill was very privileged this year to be able to hear a wide variety of speakers. From the combined efforts of the faculty and student groups such as the Assembly Planning Committee came many interesting and pertinent speakers. For International Day, Mrs. Robert Forman, a white South African, spoke about her country. She then was questioned by a panel composed of two seniors and one faculty member. The poet, Ashley Bryan, lectured on his works and played his recorder. Renee Martinez, expert on minority education, spoke to the Upper School about the Chicano Experience in the Dallas Public School System. Students learned a lot about out-of-the-ordinary subjects this year.

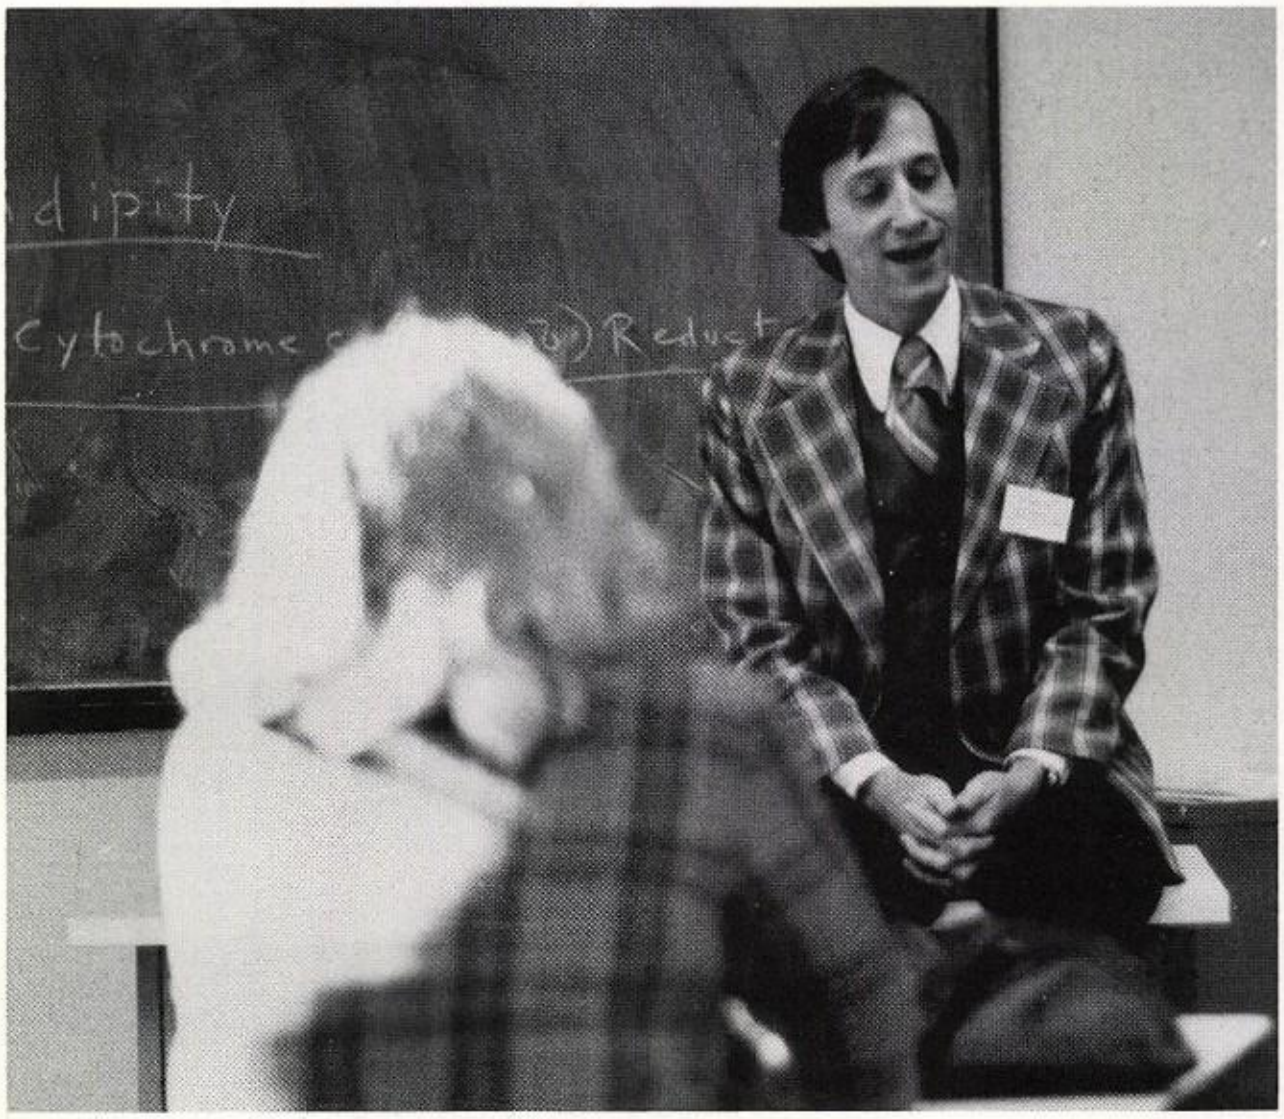
Interfest

'77



On the day that school was dismissed for Thanksgiving vacation, the Upper School experienced Interfest, or Interest festival. This innovative meeting enabled students to talk with experts in fields that they might possibly be interested in pursuing as careers. Greenhill invited over thirty prominent business men and women from the Dallas area to give presentations about their jobs. Students were able to attend three sessions of their choice along with one mandatory session with the Texas Volunteer Commission. There was everything from a female pilot to an opthamologist. There was even a representative from the Peace Corps. Most students were enthusiastic and benefited from this unique experience.

"Stingiest Man" Adds to Christmas Spirit

"The Stingiest Man in Town" was the best Christmas present that the Greenhill Theatre has ever given to us. It combined the best of the traditional Christmas programs with the professionalism of the spring musicals. "The Stingiest Man . . ." was based on Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol."

One of the best things about this show was that it involved students from both Lower and Middle Schools. Although most of the leading roles went to Middle Schoolers, there was plenty of room for the younger children. Lower School students appeared in the traditional cottas and red ribbon bows to entertain the audience with choruses of "Holly-Ho!"

The technical crews of the play were headed by Upper Schoolers and were manned by Lower and Middle Schoolers. Students designed everything from the sets to the cover of the program. Even teachers and parents pitched in and helped. The aura of cooperation in this production memorably reflected the spirit of Christmas.

Preschoolers Perform Traditional "Nutcracker Suite"

Somewhere in the long line of Greenhill tradition, Agnes Baldwin began helping the preschoolers put on the "Nutcracker Suite." Each year this play is performed, but it is never boring. Each year a new group of equally adorable children bring light into their parents' eyes. So it was this year, and so it will be next year. The buildings may change, and the children may change, but, the effect is still the same; pure joy.

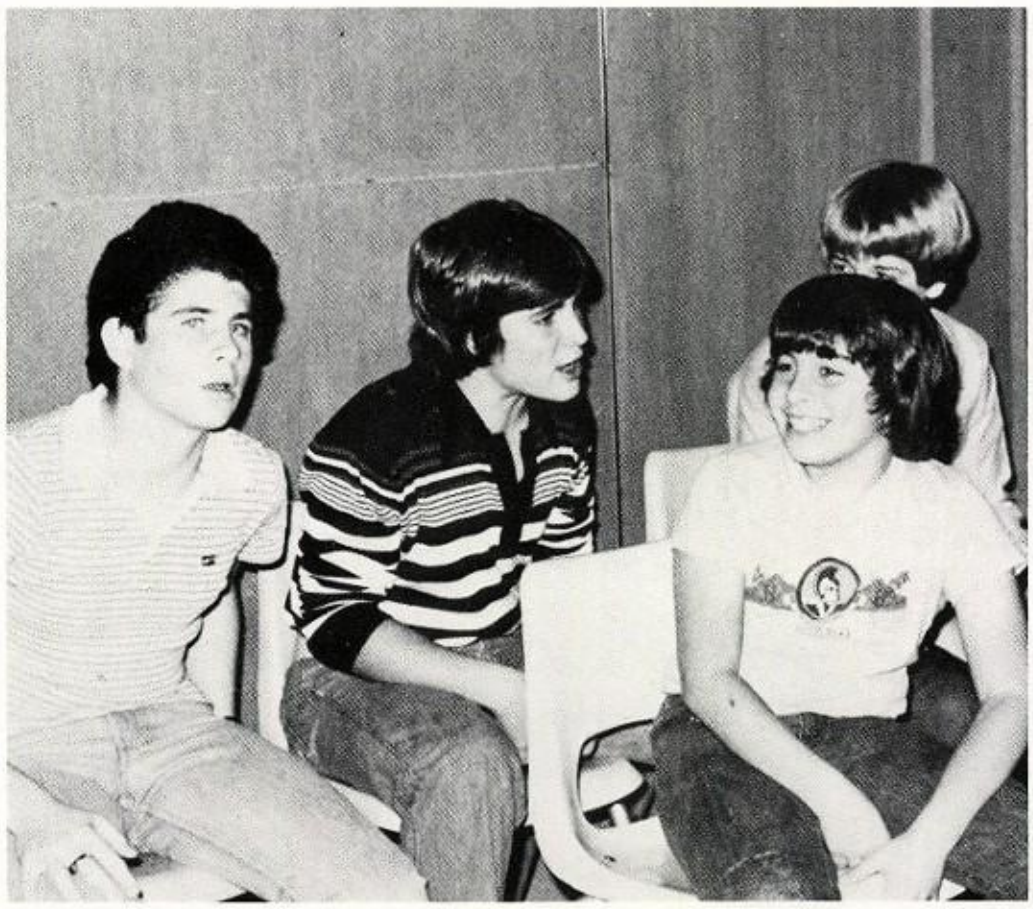
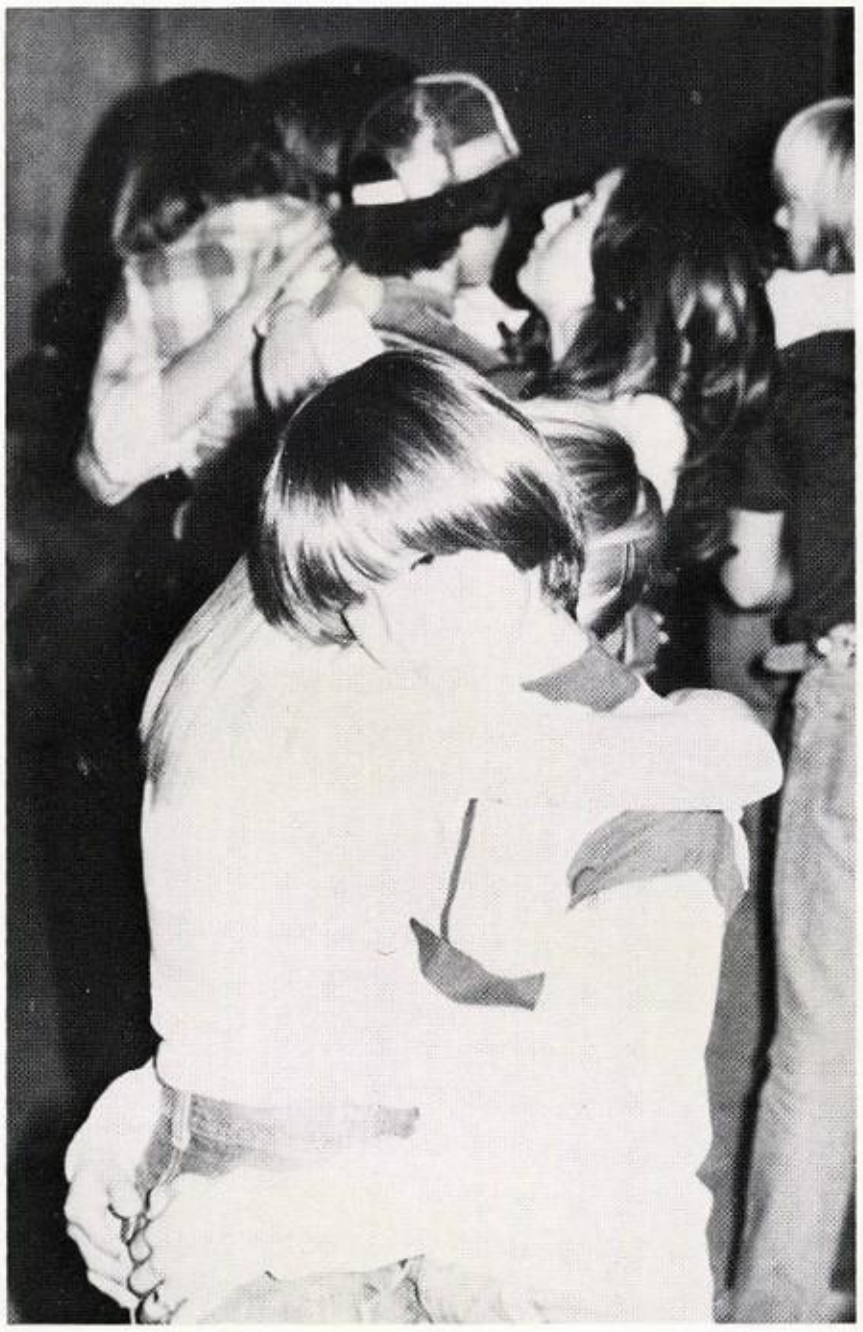
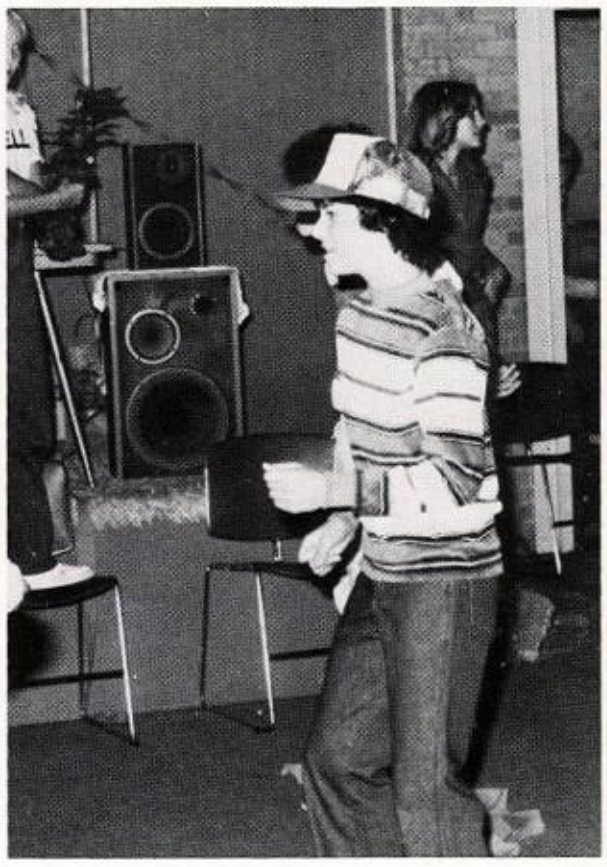
"The Nutcracker Suite"

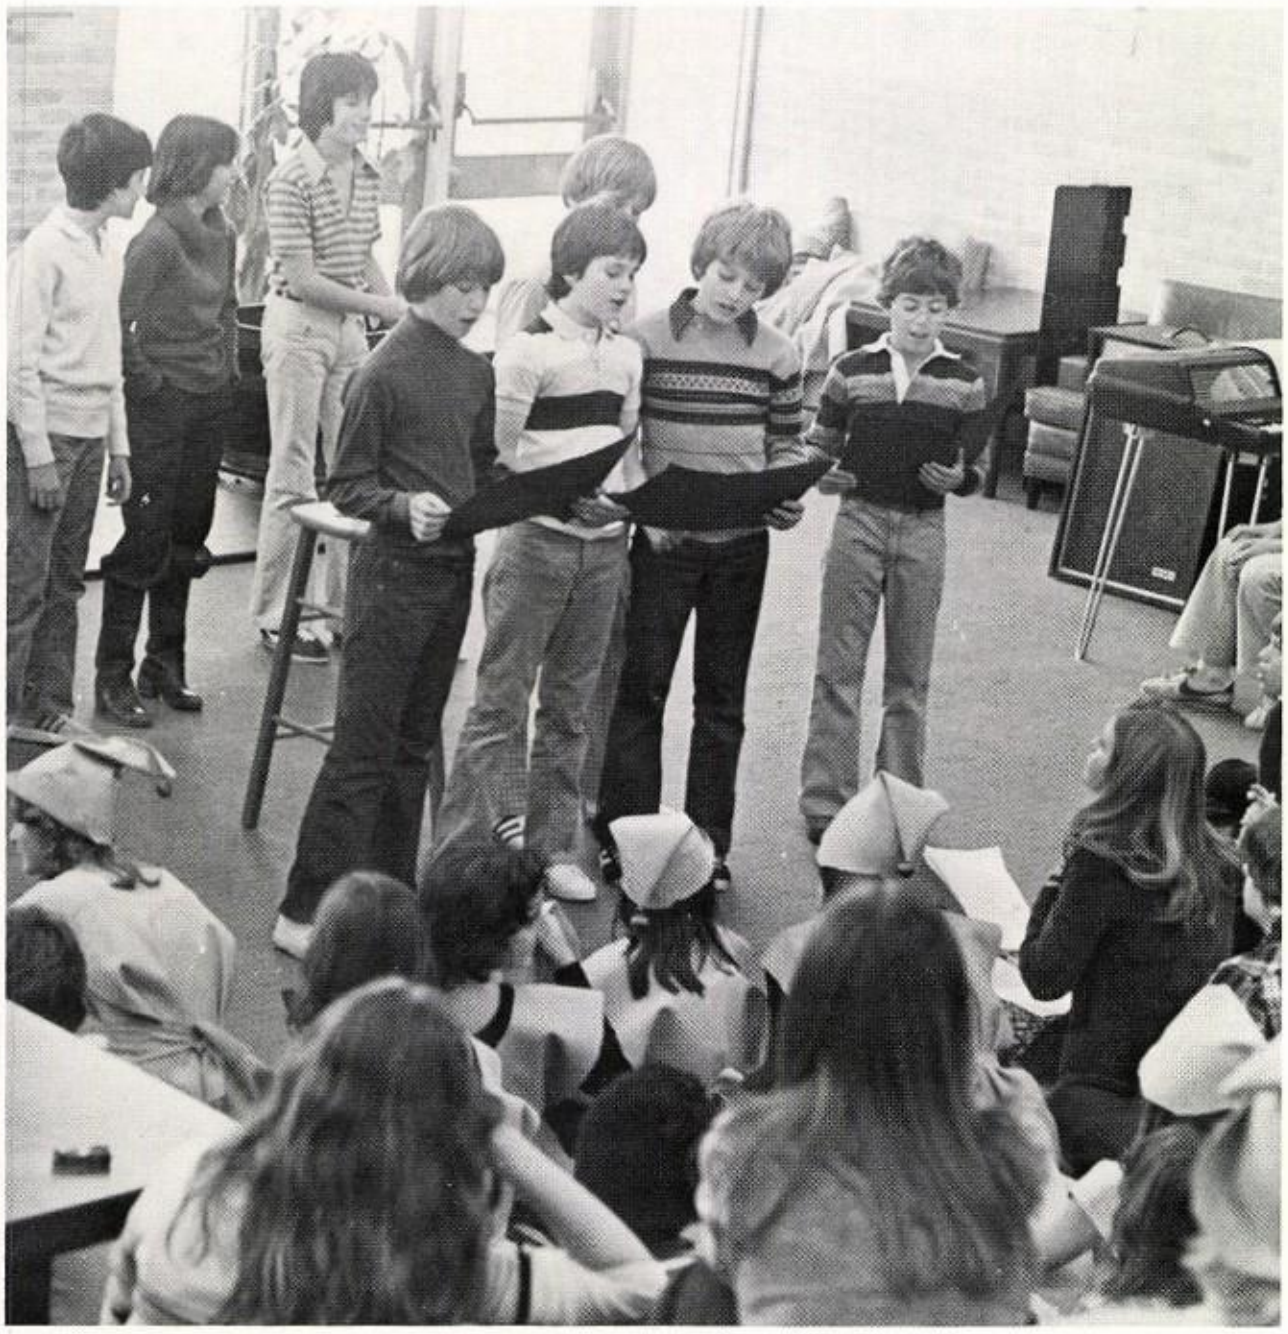
7th and 8th Graders Have "Boogie Night"

This year the Middle School cheerleaders sponsored a dance. They called it "Boogie Night." It was well attended and much enjoyed. Those that attended thought it to be a great success.









Middle School Shows Talent

Early this year the Middle School had a talent show. The kids really got involved. Pictured, seventh graders sing "Oh Dreydel, Dreydel, Dreydel."

I HAVE A LITTLE DREYDL I MADE IT OUT OF CLAY
AND WHEN ITS DRY AND READY THEN DREYDL I SHALL PLAY
O DREYDL, DREYDL, DREYDL I MADE IT OUT OF CLAY
O DREYDL DREYDL DREYDL NOW DRIDL I SHALL PLAY

Fourth Graders Perform Annual Plays

Another Greenhill tradition survived this year — the annual fourth grade plays. These plays are written and acted out by the fourth grade. One is the Columbus Day Play, and the other is the Thanksgiving Day Play. The plays this year were excellent — but then, they always are!!!

Count Dracula

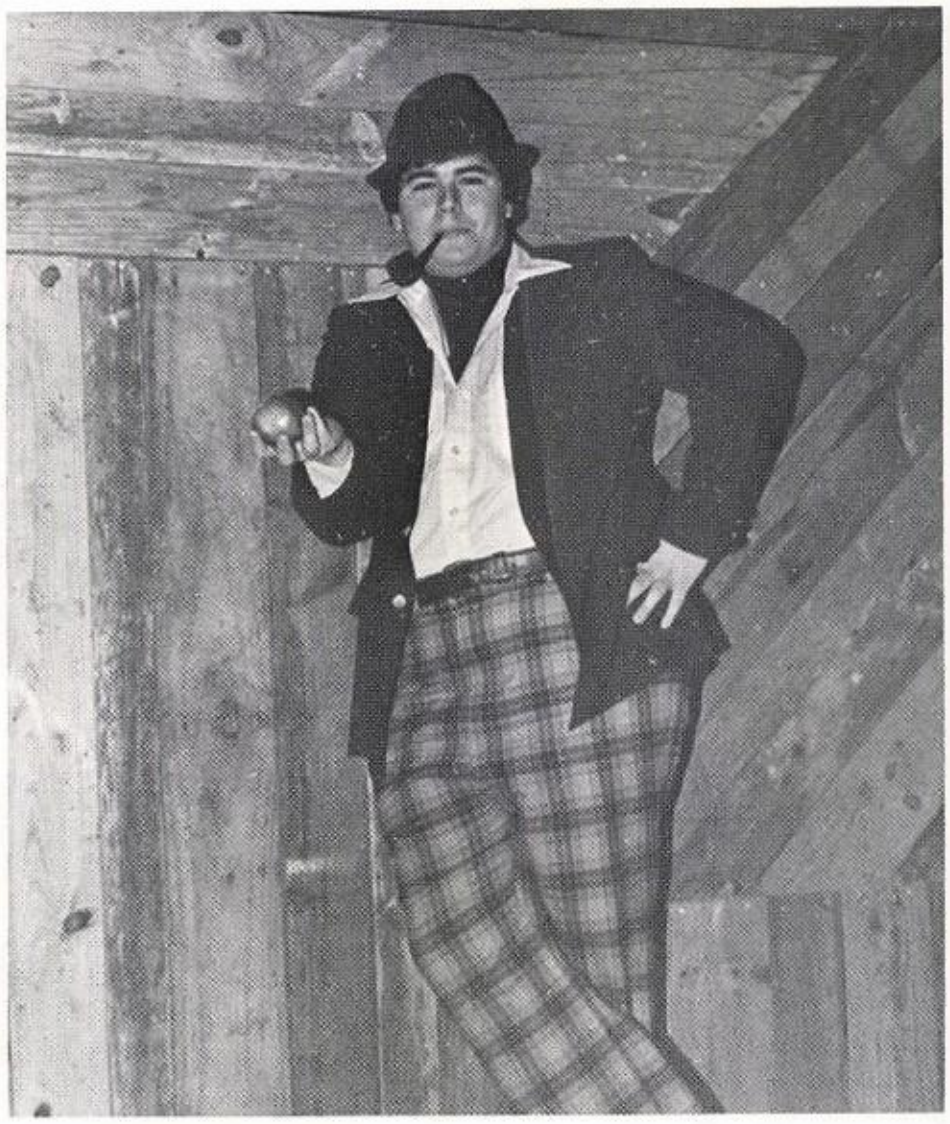
Greenhill's fall theatrical production was "Count Dracula." The melodrama, based on Bram Stoker's novel "Count Dracula," was well attended and well received. It was especially appealing to children who viewed it as a sort of "horror movie." Much of the success of the play was do to the elaborate set, one of the most complex in years.

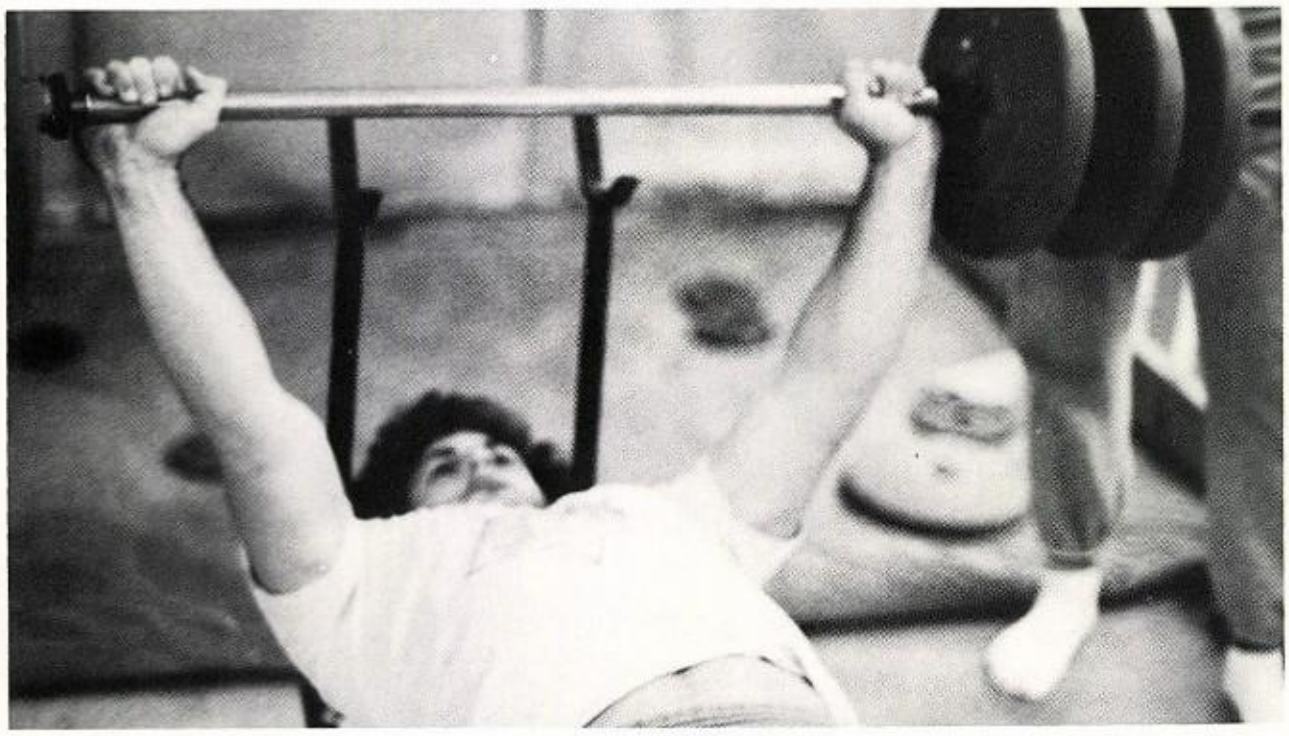
"Hollow Crown" — A Smash Success

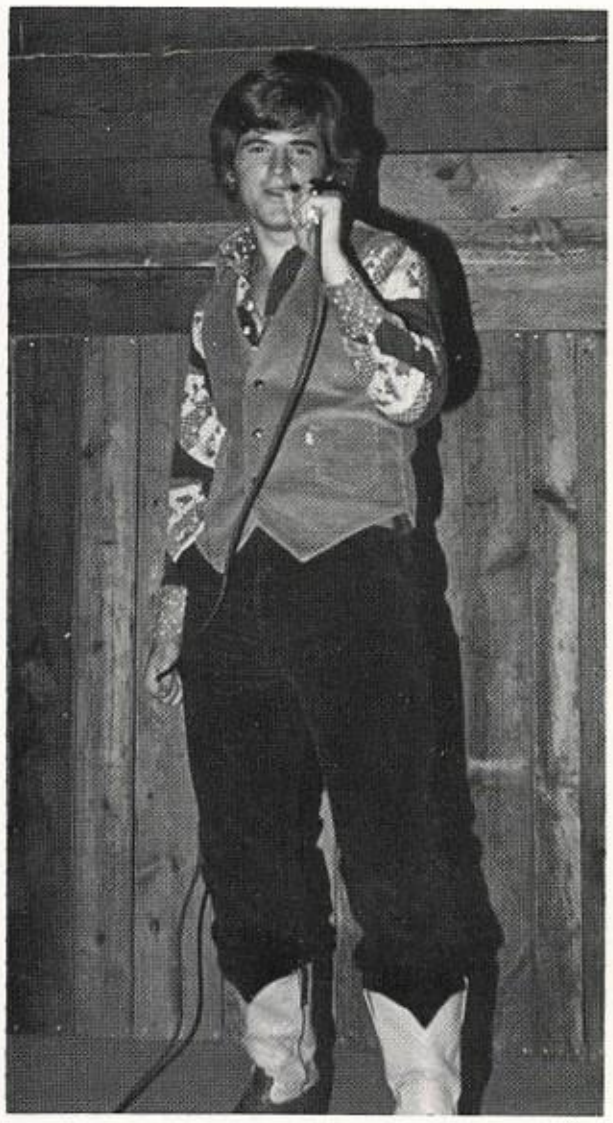
"The Hollow Crown," an entertainment based on the history and writings of the English kings, was presented in the Greenhill library in January. This excellent production, directed by Barry Cleveland, contained virtuoso performances by Linda Schultz, Dan Uloth, Jeff Jeffett, Dana Zale, Kris Estes, Don Uloth, John Murphey, and Judi Bandy. Allison Garner accompanied the singers and did excellent solo work. The production was successful not only at Greenhill, but at the state Thespian meeting at Houston. This summer they will take the production to the International Thespian Convention.

"Apple Tree" — Smash Success

The Greenhill Theatre presented a new kind of musical this year. They put on Sheldon Harnick and Jerry Bock's sixties musical, The Apple Tree. There are three parts to the play. The first is "The Diary of Adam and Eve" based on Mark Twain's work of the same name. The second part is "The Lady or the Tiger" by Frank R. Stockton. The third part is "Passionella" by Jules Feiffer. All of these plays deal with the relationships between men and women throughout history.

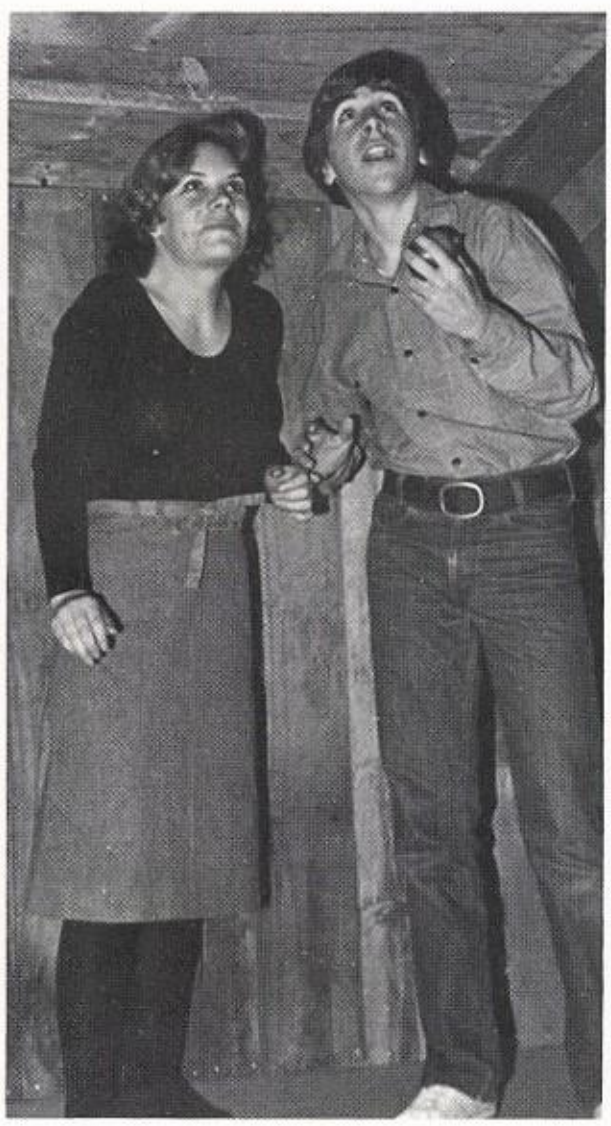






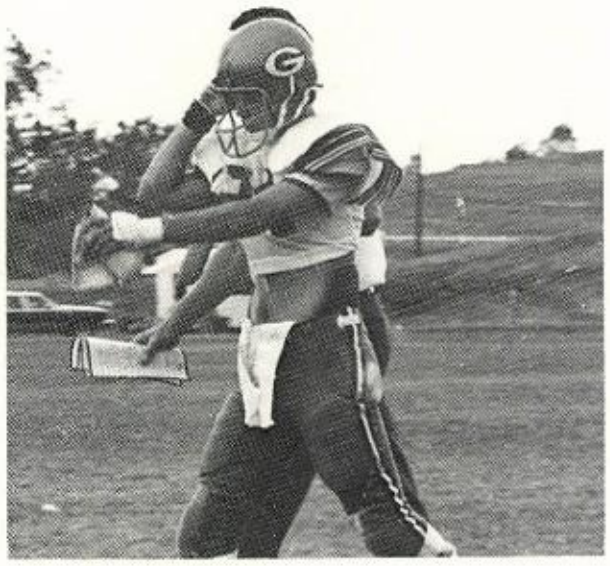
Andrew Kelton as Flip the Prince Charming.

Robin Stevens as Passionella.



Beth Hixon and Mike Sullivan as Adam and Eve.

SPORTS



Hornets Have First Winning Season

The Greenhill Hornets football team had its first winning season since 1972, posting a 6-5 record (including scrimmages). Two of their wins, a 7-3 victory over Oklahoma City, Cassidy, and a 28-8 win over Trinity Christian, avenged last year's losses to the same teams. In the Hornets' final two games of the season, they showed tremendous defensive strength, shutting out Trinity Valley and Cistercian, 16-0 and 42-0 respectively.

The total offense leader for the Hornets was halfback Tony Bryant who had over 1000 yards rushing for the second straight year. Including passing yardage, Tony accumulated over 1500 yards total and scored four touchdowns.

Although the Hornets are losing many seniors this year, they have gained some much needed depth and should have a strong squad next year.

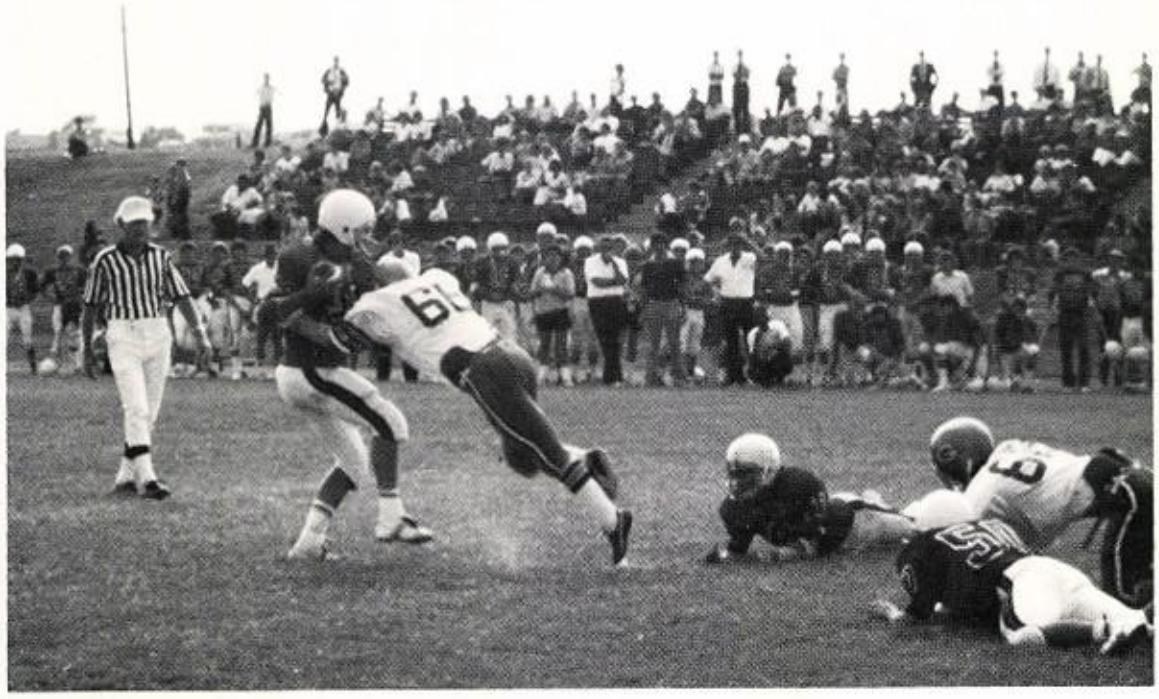
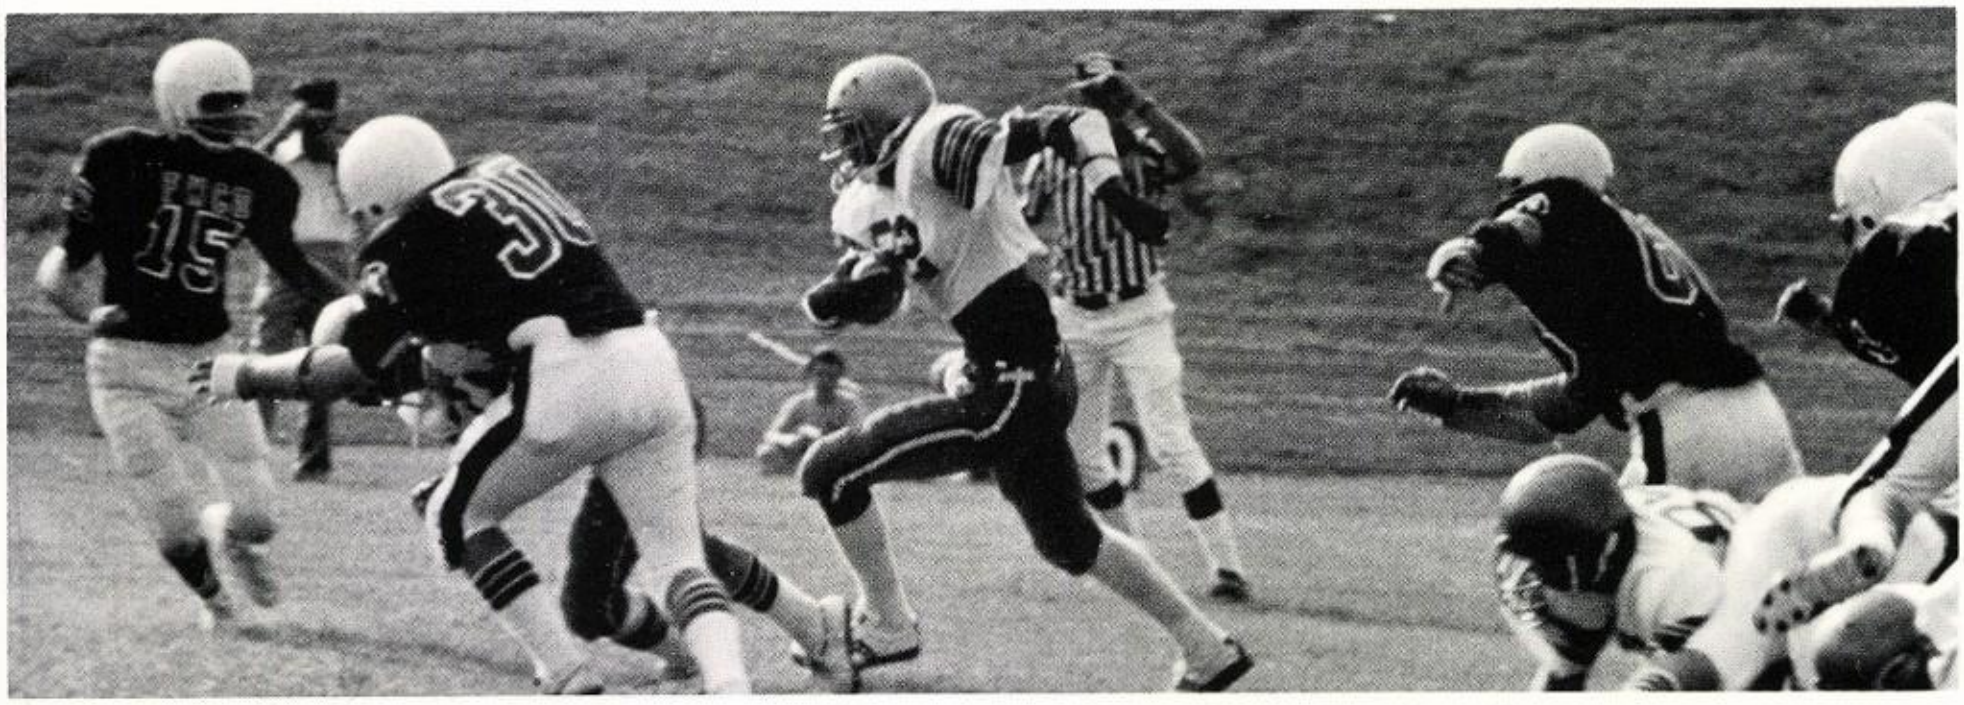
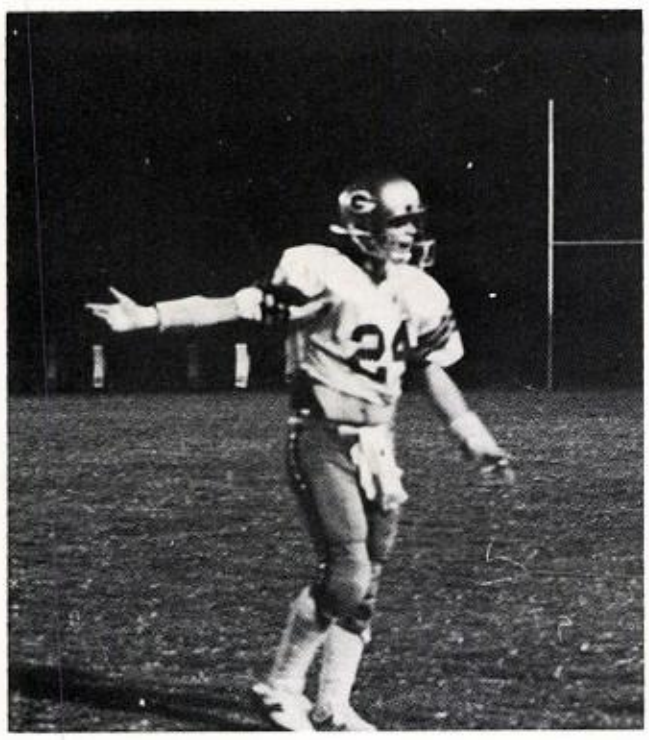
in Many Years

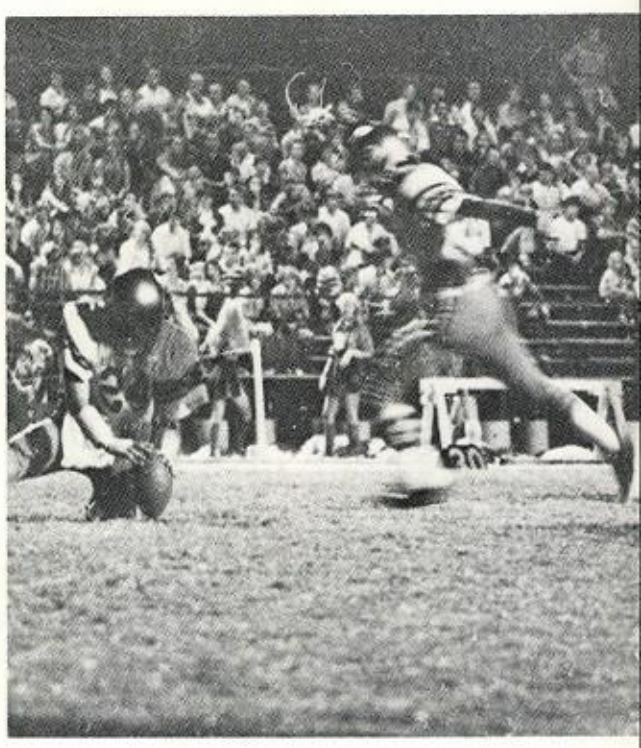


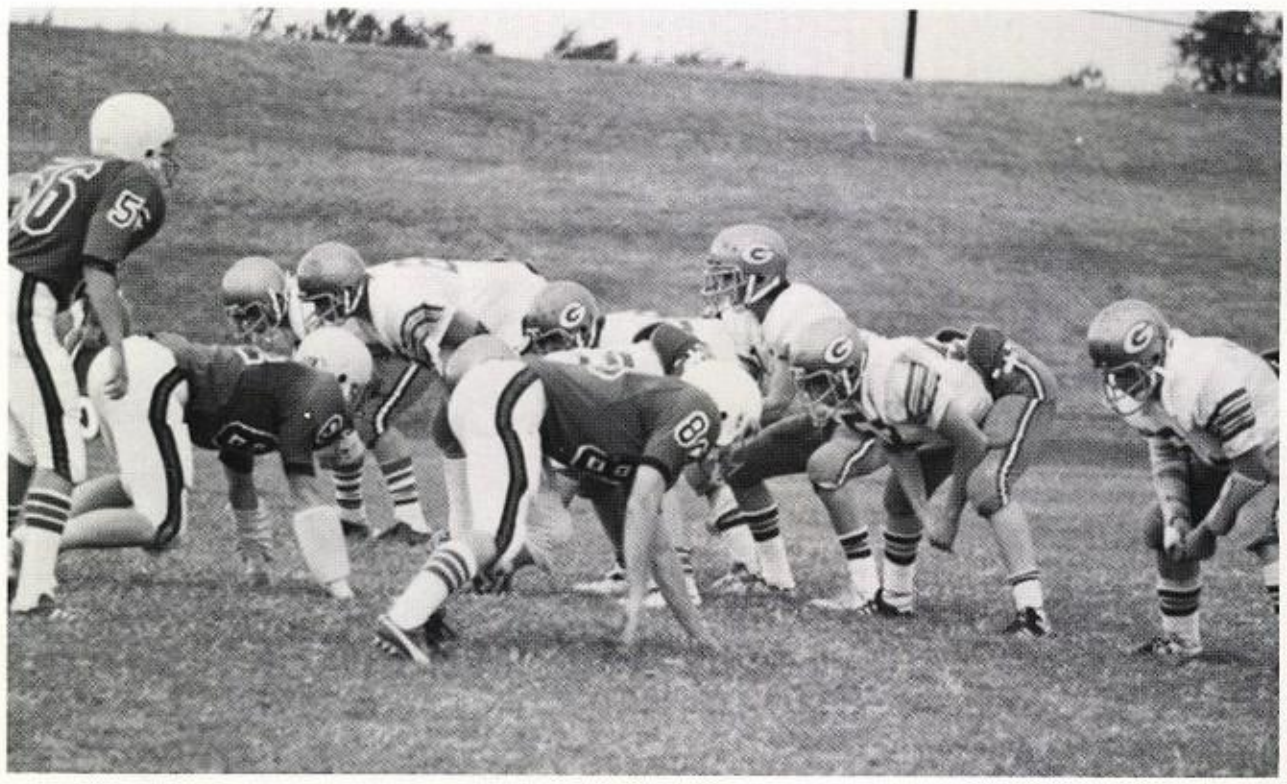
The Hornets had several people selected to all conference squads this season. They include, First Team: Peter Beath, Tony Bryant, Lester Levy, Andrew Kelton, and Brian Silverberg. Second Team: David Bernard, Kim Forsythe, and Robert Pendleton. Honorable Mention: Michael Beck, Tom Ellis, Larry Lundy, and Jim McElyea.

The offensive player of the year for the Hornets was Tony Bryant, defensive player of the year was Lester Levy, the Most Valuable Player was Brian Silverberg, and the Jock Prather Award winner was Jim McElyea.









Field Hockey Wins TISC for 4th Straight Year

The girls' field hockey team capped a successful season by winning the TISC. The girls put forth a lot of effort under captains Leslie Dorsey, Toni Burleson, and Kay Runyon. Although there were many ties during the season, there was only one loss going into the SPC tournament. The girls made a respectable showing at the tournament, with all three captains taking first team honors. Sophomores Carol Rosenfeld and Robin Posner took second team honors, and Kim Asner received honorable mention.

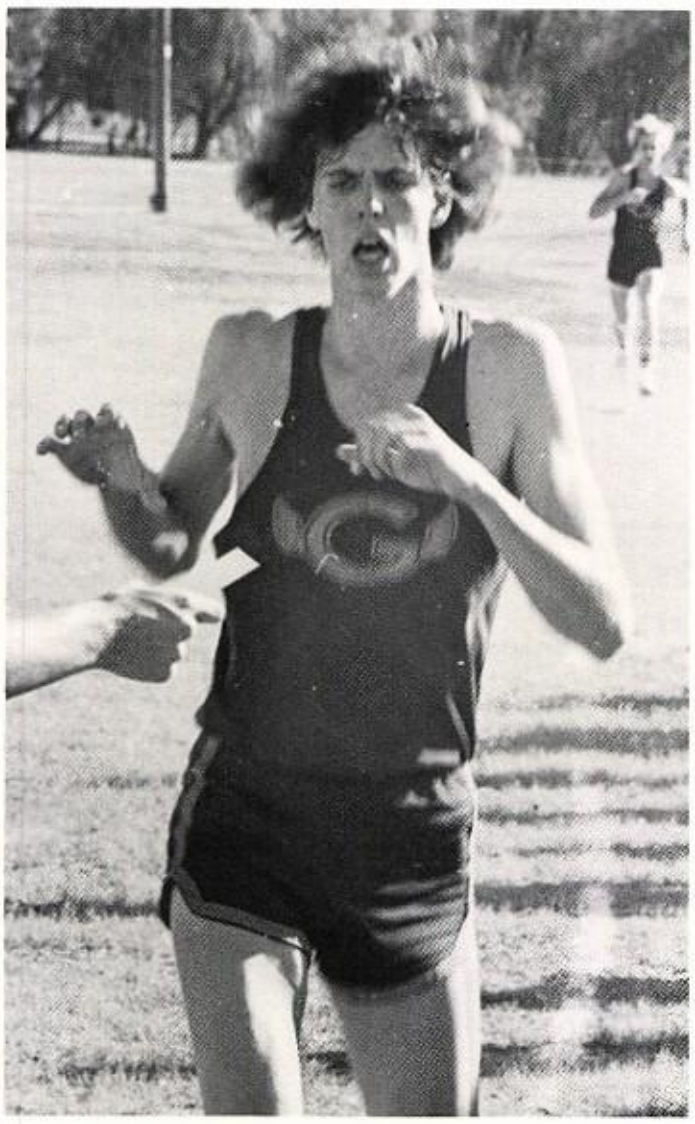
Cross Country Captures SPC



Title for First Time Ever

The Cross Country Team had a great year, winning both the SPC and TISC Championships. Greenhill's Cross Country Teams had never before achieved this goal. Alan Beck, Mark Marshall, and Guy Moore were honored on both SPC and TISC All-Conference first teams; Jim Clements, Marc Goldfarb and David Hagan were named to the TISC All-Conference team; and senior captains Marc Goldfarb and David Hagan also received Honorable Mention in the SPC. Mark Marshall had an exemplary year, setting new Greenhill two mile records. He ran a time of 10:13 in the Sixth Annual San Marcos Rotary Club Invitational and broke his own record the following week in the Mesquite Invitational, running 9:57. At the Fall Sports Banquet, Mike Silverman received the "Inspiration Award."

Girls Volleyball

The Hornets did not place at the top of either the TISC or the SPC this year, but the team played well in the end-of-the season tournaments. At the TISC tournament, they lost matches with the two powerhouse teams, Ft. Worth Country Day and Hockaday, only when the clock ran out during tie-breaking games. Then, at SPC, the Hornets' match with Kincaid highlighted the tournament as Greenhill caused the first-place team to suffer its sole defeat.

For the basketball team, this year was a year of learning. The team had five returning lettermen, but only one senior. Next year, there will be seven returning lettermen, all of whom will be seniors. Coach Dwight Clasby is looking forward to an excellent year.

David Hirschfeld, who was the team's captain, averaged nineteen points and fifteen rebounds per game. The senior had excellent chances of making first team all-conference during TISC.

The girls' basketball team finished the season with a respectable record. Seniors Kellye Wright and Leslie Dorsey led the team in scoring. Highlights of the season were a two-point victory over Ft. Worth Christian and a close game with Holland Hall.

Next year should be interesting because of the switch from a half-court to full-court game. The B-Team played full-court ball this season and this experience should help the Hornets.

The soccer team has had a successful season this year. Their strength was shown easily when they played a close match against Bryan Adams High School. The Hornets played most of the season in the defensive 2-3-4 with a sweeper back helping the fullbacks. The team is a very mature unit made up of many seniors, along with some juniors, sophomores, and one freshman.

In the first half of the season the Hornets had a 2-0-3 record. The two wins were a 5-0 victory over Trinity Valley and a tough 1-0 defeat of St. Mark's. It was the first win over St. Mark's in many years. Another big game was a 2-2 tie with Jesuit.

In the second half of the season the Hornets had a 3-3-0 record. The wins came over Selwyn, and Jesuit and Cassady.

Girls Soccer

The girls' soccer team, in its third year, is a vastly improved team. Under Coaches Penny Powell and Cheryl Benoit, the team is mastering the fundamentals well, thus helping their overall game. The leading scorer for the Hornets is Laurie Gold, followed by Paige Parsons. Another standout is first year goalkeeper Graylyn Boyd.

Improvement should continue in the future. The Hornets will have many experienced middle schoolers on the team next year. This should spell bright days in the future for girls' soccer.

The Student Council

The 1977-1978 Student Council under the leadership of President Susan Falkenstein, Vice-President Vicki Eastus, and Secretary Jerry Schwartz has undertaken many useful projects. In an effort to keep the student body better informed, the minutes of the meetings and the menu of the cafeteria are posted weekly. Along with the Alumni Association, the Council has sponsored the annual carnival. The Council also sponsored the Quiz Bowl which sent a team to a county-wide competition. Also the Council has introduced revisions in the cafeteria, student lounges, landscaping, and the introduction of intramural sports.

The Evergreen

The 1977-1978 Evergreen maintained its popularity with its reviews of music and drama. A sizeable humor section sparked controversy. The Editor-in-Chief for 1977-1978 is Doug Uloth, with news editor Hamilton Rial. Senior Jerry Schwartz is Sports Editor with Juniors Tony Lovett editing the humor section and Vicki Eastus as Feature Editor. The Business Manager is Darren Barnett. The Faculty Sponsors are Richard Williams and Mary K. Kuykendall.

Cavalcade

When the members of the Cavalcade staff began to work on this book, they asked themselves what they wanted the finished annual to be. They decided that it should be a pictorial image of a single year in the life of the school. To this end, they collected pictures of all facets of school life. Some of the members of the staff were Karen Tobias, Sarah Bateman, Kay Runyon, Alison Porter, Jerry Schwartz, and Lisa Lehman.

Montage

The Montage, the school's literary magazine, is published every spring. The staff gathers material from classes in all grades. It sponsors literary contests to spur creativeness of students. The Montage editor, Susan Folkenstein, believes that the magazine should reflect the relative seriousness of intense creative effort, and for this reason, intends to maintain the usage of cool colors, such as blue and gray, that has characterized the book in previous years.

Upper School Choirs

Choral singing interested many people in Greenhill's Upper School this year. The choirs were organized into the Greenhill Singers, a ninth grade choir, and a regular chorus. The choirs gave performances for the Upper School, the Middle School, the Lower School, the Parents' Association, and various private schools in Fort Worth. As a special Christmas project a performance was given at a Dallas nursing home.

Upper School Cheerleaders

Pattilynn O'Connell, Lisa Albert, Gina Robinson, Farra Shelby, Tracy McPartland, Ione Lifson, and Frank Davis.

Chess Club

Computers

Under the direction of Bobbie Ferrell, Greenhill has begun using computers to augment its curriculum. The object of these programs is to familiarize students with computers. The programs revolve around two Apple micro-computers — small portable machines; the portability of the Apple allows students of all ages to use the computers almost daily.

Student involvement in programs has been great, auguring well for the future role of computers at Greenhill.

Herbert Marcus

By devoting forty-five minutes per week of their time, Greenhill students are able to see how other educational systems work. By opening a few of the dusty Greenhill windows and looking outside, these students may be opening doors for less fortunate children.

Tour Guides

Guiding perspective students around the school by the Greenhill students is a first for the 77-78 year. It is going quite well, Mr. Terry claims, because "the students have the best insights."

Spanish National Honor Society

This year the Spanish National Honor Society held a luncheon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Roswell. For a service project the members tutored. Lynn Salzberger and Toni Burleson were co-presidents, and Mrs. Drew Duffey was the sponsor.

Assembly Planning Committee

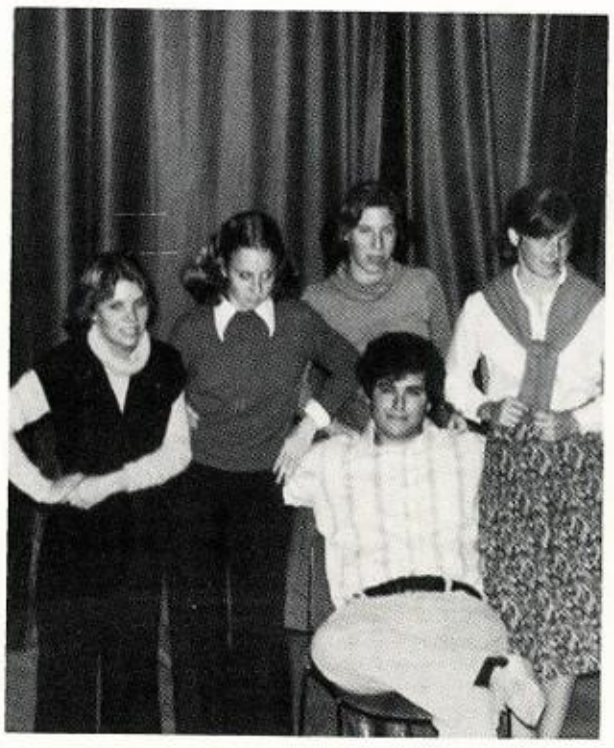
The APC had a new name this year, (formerly Committee Relations) along with a few innovations within the club.

Thespians Active in Theater Arts

The Greenhill Thespians are active in all of the productions of the drama department. Such productions as Dracula and The Hollow Crown were very successful. The cast members and crew of The Hollow Crown performed at the State Thespian Convention and have been invited to perform at the International Thespian Convention.

Below: Thespians — Beth Hixon, Fiona McCracken, Wendy Pollock, Randy Pearlman, and Linda Schulze.



Mortarboard Involved at Greenhill

Kellye Wright was the president of the school's service organization, the Mortarboard. The Mortarboard had many members this year. Among its more notable activities this year, the club sponsored the Homecoming Dance, Homecoming Week, and sold carnations in the spring for Valentine's Day.

To Fiona, I leave a lot of laughs, lunches, ta grande bouche, and thanks for a friendship that will last forever. To Allison, I leave a dinner on me at the Magic Pan, our exciting nights on the town, our free periods and a friendship I know will continue to grow. To Lisa, I leave all our gossiping about the things we didn't like, my wonders of how you were so patient with my driving, my back cracks and thanks for a friendship that made my last year in high school the best one. To Barry, Mark and David, thanks for my induction into the S.S. Rose, I leave all the shared homework from Eng II to Instant Algae. Frank, I leave you presidency of the Gullible Club. Joan, my sorrow you couldn't share Fr. IV with me. Karen and Judy, I leave you matching Heineken pants. And to Greenhill, my respects and deepest appreciation.

Love when you can, cry when you have to,
be who you must, that's a part of the plan.
Await your arrival, with simple survival,
and one day we'll all understand.

There is no Eden, no heavenly gates,
that you're gonna make it to one day.
But all of the answers you seek can be found,
In the dreams that you dream along the way.

"A dream is not a very safe thing to be near. I know; I had one once. It's like a loaded pistol with a hair trigger: if it stays alive long enough, somebody is going to be hurt. But if it's a good dream, it's worth it. There are not many dreams in the world, but there are a lot of human lives."

FLAGS IN THE DUST

After twelve years on the Hill I've got a lot to leave; here goes — To Karen I leave our long talks on the phone about the problems that we finally found couldn't be solved — KEEP trying, our weekends, all those movies! Thanks for being my best friend for the last two years. To Susan I leave the backpacking with J.P., the tick-doo-doo, the summers at CGS, and not only my friendship but my admiration, you're no goon. To Mike I leave two more years at Greenhill, your cute laugh, and an honorary membership in the class of '78! To Tracy, Rusty, Russ, Howard, Peter, Katherine, and Allison, I leave our pre-Instant Algae homework sessions in the commons. To Dana Z. I leave a "property of bastards," "The Regency," characters and grandmothers. To Atlantis I leave a new transmission, a bottle of pink champagne, and a New Year's kiss. To Ken Piel I leave my excellent map reading ability and a 1957 U.S. Atlas for the next time you go to Colorado. To Mr. Kittlemon (you "Old Goat") I leave my family's copy of "Old Pinkie" (I think we've gotten our money's worth by now). To Mrs. Eastus, I leave my deepest thanks for being my friend, teacher, and advisor for the past four years. To Dr. Hendrix, off in those N.C. trout streams, I leave my greatest respect and admiration. Thank you for introducing me to a world of things I never knew existed.

I feel funny writing a will — would not a birth certificate be more appropriate? But, this is a will in that I am leaving part of myself behind and taking an ever larger part of everyone else with me. I am so confused — and rightfully so. So, I will get on with this, and you can attempt to make head or tail of it (as you please).

To Kevin I leave all our lunchtime chats (for better or worse no one will or should ever know). To Dr. Mooney, finding nothing printable to leave, I leave you solely with your thoughts. (maybe I'm being a bit too generous). To Mrs. Eastus, I simply leave her mystery (anything else would be an unfair giveaway). To Dr. Rule I leave a 10-year's supply of red tape and the courage to overcome it. And now for my legacy. Sheli, I leave you the Russian Award and a pint of self-confidence. To Morton I need leave nothing, for the world will shortly be yours. To Michael, I leave everything that you can take from Morton, and another world all your own. But mostly, I leave this school in good hands, knowing that the few people who keep this place running, those who are here because they honestly and foremostly care about others and want to be, are the school — and the hope for mankind.

"Just a step," cried the Sandman,
"take a look down at the madman!"
Theatre kings on silver wings fly, beyond reason
from the plight of the seagull come the spread claws of the eagle
Only fear breaks the silence,
As we all kneel, pray for guidance.
Tread the road cross the abyss,
take a look down at the madness.
On the streets of the city, only
spectres still have pity.
Patients cured for the gallows sing the praises of the hallowed.
On machines beat the furnace,
If they take us, they will burn us.

Will you still know who you are,
when you come to who you are?

With the flames of the season
With your hopes and your reason,
You'll only die with your tongues!
Can you still keep your balance?
Can you live on a Knife-Edge?

To Dr. Rule, I leave Zeno, El and P, my journal, the future of Greenhill and affect (a?)tion.

To Marc Linsey, I leave, regretfully, your wonderful understanding and humor, a Baked Alaska, a new tie, two or three ears and love. To Mark M.: your papacy and luck. To Mark S.: a backrub. To Gene: study hall. To Bobster and the Gang: fromoop and fun. To Annie: the days of Diet Dr. Pepper and roses, all the things we've shared, and a bidet. To Lori: an infinite supply of leotards, beautiful men, friendship, and insanity. To Edie, I leave the goddess, the revolution, conventions, long calls, crickets, a wonderful crazy friendship and the scandalous john. Lunatic: more lunacy. To Chewbacco: havin' some fun . . . To God: the day of judgment. And to David Munson: a tree that was not a walnut tree, the door handle, a new car, and mixed memories. Finally to the game players: a rule book, and to those who laugh: much more joy, in return for what you've given me.

Fire and Ice

Some say the world will end in fire,
Some say in ice.
From what I've tasted of desire
I hold with those who favor fire.
But if it had to perish twice,
I think I know enough of hate
To say that for destruction Ice
Is also great
And would suffice.

Now for the people I really and truly let down which ended a very special relationship for us all: Mother, Rita, and Mrs. Hudson. I'm sorry but don't worry I'll have you all proud of me once again and not ashamed as you are now. Don't worry about me. I'm starting all over in a new state of mind. You'll see!!!I won't let you down this time!!! Lisa: Keep L. L. happy. Larry: Keep L. P., K. H.: don't give up yet on L. L. Dale thanks for all the fun we had together, I'll remember it always. To Robin, Graylyn, Mallori, and Windsor: Nice knowing you all. To Gonzales and G'hill: If anyone asks just say I died because I did.

I, Edith Degolyer, being of imploded brain and unmentionable body, leave to Greenhill four quasi productive years of my life. To various male teachers I leave a large supply of impressive tie insides. To Dr. Mooney I leave a pink bow for every curl and enough copies of American Political Tradition to flood him out of house and home. To Trecie I leave a lizard and an unlimited supply of E.R.'s to ride her through her waning years. To the great gang a selection of meows and other noises in various timbres, and arrows to whomever can wear them properly. To Mrs. Eastus I leave overdue papers and a copy of every note we passed in her class. To Bobbie I leave a live Ichabod, to Suzy I leave rabid dogs and Sunday afternoons. In general, I leave weirdness, the Renaissance, aborted revolution, Bionic fowls, instant signs, maniacal laughter, a G.W.O.C., socks, pens, and someone else to pick up the pieces. As has been said, Goodbye, Good Luck, and Good Riddance! (But not really).

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew to serve your turn long after they are gone, And so hold on when there is nothing in you Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friend can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute With sixty seconds' worth of distance run, Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And — which is more — you'll be a Man, my son!

XXXX José, don't forget the Lorca-inspired confessionals! Ian Rule, my continued respect (and overwhelming ticklement). Christine Eastus, you're motivating and fun. Thanks for the biggest pride of my senior year. Rex Mooney, my deepest thanks for the gifts, ideological and otherwise. Take care. Phil Foote, you're prime time, the best. Kenn Piel, Thanks! You're the original insane dwarf; our first wacko experiences left us with a friendship that will never be "lost" (ha!). Class of '78, my best wishes. My family,

Thank ya'll; Love ya'll.

I, Marc Goldfarb, being of sound mind (well sort of) and sound body (except for allergies and an occasional ache here and there) do leave to Greenhill after 7 years of academic endeavor many thanks for all I have gained, HOS to John Chilton, Communism to Jeffett, my slow Buick Century to Hagan (if he wants it), 14 percent yearly to Epstein, Doughnuts to Freeman, Jacky Stein to Schnitzer, a work-a-holic award; To Schwartz, an atomic bomb; To Thompson, all my speed and bulk; To the cross country team, Thanks to Mr. Blanchard and Coach Fuller for my physical fitness (even though I almost died getting it); Thanks to Mr. Horner for being my adviser; To Mr. Foote my best wishes and respect; To the cafeteria many compliments; To the bathrooms thanks for always being there when I needed you, and from Greenhill I ask only for forgiveness for any crimes I committed and didn't get caught for. Also to Robert Moore wherever you are I passed Algebra II. So long G.H.

To Mom, Dad, Coaches Norman, Blanchard, and Fuller, my respect, love, and thanks for believing in me even if I'd give up. For anyone to understand the rest of what I have to say, they need to have a copy of "The Grand Illusion" by Styx (preferably the album 'cause it comes with the words). Starting on side 1 — To everyone at the Hill and what we've been taught "The Grand Illusion." To anyone who thinks they don't have a chance (as I used to) Fooling Yourself. To all upcoming Senior classes, Superstars. To the class of '78 (yeah team) I leave Come Sail Away. Now Side 2 — To all newly "bloomed" G.H. girls, Miss America. To anyone who wonders why I run track and X-country — Man in the Wilderness. To anyone having dreams of things getting better, Castle Walls. And last, to finish up, I leave The Grand Finale on my Senior Page Sail away Superstars, Sail away Superstars.

So if you think your life is complete confusion cause your neighbor's got it made
Just remember please, it's a grand illusion
And deep inside we're all the same.

P.S. Please, if you want to know how I feel listen to the album in the text I've laid out. If you don't want to (the majority of you) that's O.K. too because you're the ones who never cared anyway.

I would like to thank the following people for opening my mind to the world around and within me. And for changing my life with the advent of philosophy, I shall never forget Dr. Mooney. Thanks again for making me aware of what history is and why it is studied, and for exposing me to the ever profound Dialectic of Hegel. Thanks very much to Mr. Norris who tried to teach me to write and made me read Siddhartha and The Trial. Thanks to Mrs. Seldin who exposed me to the complex world of the aesthetic and is expanding my outlook in life continually. — And again thanks to all at Greenhill.

Today is the son of yesterday —
Today is the father
Long is yesterday, and long is tomorrow
So short is today!
Don't let it slip between your fingers.
Let it contain beauty, hope and love,
As well as work and rest.
Everyday helps decide about us —
about the richness of our wisdom, the tenderness of our hearts, or the fullness of our lives.
Our whole life is a chain of our todays.

Part of the Plan
The meaning gets lost
And the teachings get tossed
And you don't know what you're going to do next.
You wait for the sun
But it never quite comes
Some kind of message comes through to you.
Some kind of message comes through.
And it says to you . . .
Love when you can
Cry when you have to
Be who you must
That's a part of the plan
Await your arrival
With simple survival
And one day we'll all understand.

E., doritos, duff nuts, prune juice, report cards, excuses excuses!, and my thanks. To N. P., my best wishes for the most successful seasons to come. To Geronimo, I leave Buffalo jump. To Tracy, I leave enough new friends and memories to more than fill this book, but I'll need to borrow . . .! To Atlantis, long lazy r.o. days, and lets go get some food! Toni — a lot of thanks for a friendship undeserved, and how come you listen so well? R. N., Football, midnight, the house next door, trucks, T. N., Fatigo, memories, and a lot of unsettled arguments! Peter, Tony, Tim, thanks for tolerating me and Robin. Robin P., I leave you 1001 Nacho recipes for use after midnight, and the good looking ones always got something wrong with them, and your very own. "How to plan your time well", book. Hey Foster! Why, Who, When, how, should, can, may, you've got a lot of answers and yes there is life after field hockey. Thanks a lot. T., I'll miss you, I will. Well bye bye Greenhill, hello outside world.

There are highway dreams in my head tonight
I can't breathe without you and I'm losing height
I don't need a periscope or second sight
To see nothing lasts forever
With a planet stare and a guiding star
You can only be what you think you are

So be closer to believing
Though your world is torn apart
For a moment changes all things
And to end is but to start
And if your journey's unrewarded
May your God lift yp your heart
You are wind blown
But you are mine.

"Never yet has a deeper world of insight revealed itself to daring travellers and adventures; and the psychologist who in this fashion brings a sacrifice — it is not the sacrifizo, dell intellects, on the contrary! — Will at least be entitled to demand in return that psychology shall again be recognized as the queen of the sciences, to serve and prepare for which the other sciences exist. For psychology is now once again the road to the fundamental problems."

I, Chris Roberts, being of debatably sound mind and body do hereby bequeath the following: To all the friends I have made and lost in my 12 years on the Hill, I leave thanks for making my sentence bearable. To Dick Hall, I leave my gratitude for the patience you had with your first advisee and all the help you gave as one student to another. To all my teachers who have put up with me for this length of time, my thanks, appreciation, and surprise. Especially Dr. Mooney for the pep-talks on life in general and the confidence I gained as a result.

To Mr. Kittleman, 5 years of Algebra (in various forms) with no visible effect. To the "theatah" I leave Mrs. Ellis' strictly impartial and unbiased tryouts, her AMAZING telepathic communication with the light crew, and the hope that she gives birth to many more plays to come. To Scott McMullan, I leave a cold mountaintop somewhere North of Steamboat, Colorado with a stuck Jeep and night falling fast, 4 years of great times, a blind date with you-know-who, Radio Star Electronics, and a friend for life. To David Stratton, memories of the all too brief friendship in the tenth grade, 12 years together, Saturday morning Driver's Ed., English II, NGC 819, and Camel's "White Rider."

To Keith McAteer, a blind date with you-know-who-else-who, and a fantastic vacation in Colorado.

To David Hagan, all our B.D.'n and H.R.'n a W.U.T.M. rally on a Carrollton backroad at 2:30 a.m., a cruise on the lane, various police officers, a tall cold Blackjack, and a roommate at Tech.

To Doug Uloth, 9 years of it together, the bullet-ridden legacy of the Evergreen, and a lasting friendship.

To Steve McSwain (dearly departed '77) a turbocharged straight-six for your 914 c/o A&M.

To my parents and sister, my love and appreciation for the same which I can never repay.

P.S. Thanks, Mr. Foote

I, Mark Schnitzer, being of undeterminable mind and body, humbly submit my last will and testament to The Greenhill School and those who make it what it is.

First, to my mentors: To Coaches Fuller and Smith, I leave my deepest respect, they believe that a sound mind should be housed in a sound body. For this, I am grateful. To Mr. Kittleman — my signed Calculus tests and my thanks for being my advisor for 4 years. Mrs. Wolfram — my P.A.C.E. form and messed up applications. They can't pay you enough for all the work you do. To my other instructors, who I am unable to list, I leave my thanks, for it was you who made me what I am today. (for better or for worse). To other important people (alphabetically and by grade): Sal — Spanish lessons and my new address, let's keep in touch. Trecie — midnight movies and an invite to visit. Neen — a never ending supply of wishes, they'll all come true. G.E.P. — someday you'll know. Susan L. — I.W.T.T.Y. Bobby M. — bigger flippers so you can get to school faster. 10 — official membership in the S.S. Lisa A. — an F.S. honk and an ever open car. Darren — my football ability and a good pair of flags. Kim B. — backrubs!! Bae — the other half of the world (maybe we can merge). Allison — my keys and my hand. Farbie — a subscription to "Car and Driver." David H. — my math folder, our old days of Hell raisin', and our secret L.L.'s. Robert L. — my Hungarian. (like he needs it) Fiona — a job and permanent traveling partner. Jerry — the Olympic gold in the shot and a tri-centennial trip. K.T. — a date for pizza. Thanks for taking this late. Judy and Alan — time flies. Soon it'll be your turn. Sherry — an application to My school (already approved). And finally, to Dena — time hasn't hurt, neither will distance. To those I missed — only on paper, not in my heart.

I, Atlantis Shelby, leave the following: To Staci and Julie, Kerry Comstock. To Lisa, a car that works. To Valerie, a ride, wherever, whenever. To Lauren and Frannie, the soccer team. To Wendy, the money I owe you and a friend. To Gina, many memories, like a December day, and a lasting friendship. To Juliet, a bathroom stall, a guinea pig and a friend always. To Lester, my personality and Marcie. To Andrew, Galveston, singers, much more, and a great friend I'll always remember. To Michael, Sangers, a chauffeur, a trip home, E'lans, and a friend who is always willing to listen when you talk. To Miss Unsworth, Spanish Class and thanks for your help (I wouldn't have done it without you). To José, a schedule that makes me work. To Dr. Mooney, my deepest respect. To Señora Duffey, a psychiatric appointment and my love, respect and thanks for everything. To Tracy, there are so many things to remember and say, I can't even begin. You have been and always will be the very best friend I could ever hope for. Thanks for everything and especially for just being you and always there. I love you! To Farrai, two more years, a mascot uniform, and take care. To David, seven more years, good luck. Finally, to my parents, thanks for 17 years of your love, care, and understanding. I love you both! And now Greenhill, I leave!

Remember, I'm no longer a snob; To Jerry (Schwartz) I leave thanks for all the advice you have given me — I have learned to remain calm under even the most strenuous moments. To Eileen, I leave the days of Akelia and now those of Greenhill; to Karen B., I leave the endurance to make it through one more year and my failure in my one and only mission; to Dr. Mooney, I leave memories of Martin Luther. Thanks for all you've done; to Lynn, I leave all the memories of our times together, when being serious or just having fun, all our nervous break downs we were on the verge of having, our days in the most exclusive club (remember, not until 40), Sablosky, Israel 77, our competition in more than one area, late night phone calls after dates, midnight snacks at Taco Patio, all the concern and caring you've shown, and don't forget B.F.A.

Keith, I leave you memories of our late-night talks, cramming for tests, our secrets, the hope that you finally get what you want (you deserve it), the reminder that if you ever need a sympathetic ear . . ., a true friendship and my "love." Susan, I'm so glad we became such good friends. You're truly a super person! Thanks for all the help. Allison, I leave you the joys of not having to stay for b-ball practice anymore, a sunny day to wash our cars on, a year's supply of J.I.B. tacos and four years of unforgettable memories. Judi, I leave you with remnants of football games at FWC, papering houses, midnight movies, carpools, and Donies. Look forward to vacations! Mrs. Eastus, I leave you a blank on your advisee list, my love, a giant mum, and thanks for four years of encouragement. Ms. Roman and Mrs. Kuykendall, thanks for being much more than just teachers. Mr. Norris, how do you like it? And finally, Scott, I leave more to you than I could possibly put into words. You made my senior year one that I will always remember: the parties, the flowers, the sad times, the happy times, the fun, the memories. Remember ILYA. Mom and Dad, I finally made it. Thanks for everything, I love you.

James Douglas Uloth

I, J. Douglas Uloth, being of Spencerian mind, bequeath the following to the competitors at Greenhill: To Tony Lovett, I leave my benevolent dictatorship of the Risk board (despite the Chairman's efforts to stop me), your perennial presidency in Landslide (with the folded California card), a tape of the ELP concert and a water bomb. To Harris Skibell, the toll-road terror, I leave my headphones in exchange for your Advents, the antics worthy of an asylum inmate, and a bottle of Stop-Bath. To Gary Beck, I leave Florida (even though it is sinking), all the trout I caught last summer, and directions to T.C. To John Kittleman, I leave an overloaded Rabbit (your own), your tennis game and a place in the Saturday night soccer league. To Kevin Richardson, I leave a post in my Cabinet, one proxy for your band in any competition and my ability for forming unintended double entendres. To Chris Roberts, I leave the late night rehearsals for the musicals (including the last instant cueing), and the hope that the Fiat will run smoothly. To Hamilton Rial, I leave the "Big Joke" which I will think of, remembrances of all the jokes I fell for, your ability to "red" on everyone, and the title of Alter Ego. To Jeff Jeffett, I leave all the title "connoisseur of the obscure" To Darren Barnett, I leave a computer for the Evergreen accounts. To Stacy Dorfman, I leave a drivers license and a pie to throw at Hamilton. To next year's Evergreen editor, I leave the hope that things run smoother than they did this year. To Dan and Don, I leave the traditions of the "Three Slugs." Lastly I would like to express my thanks to Dr. J. P. Hendrix and especially Dr. Rex Mooney for their help and friendship.

He who has not walked alone and fished for trout on a wild river midst peaks beneath a sky adrift with clouds — has not really had a look at his beginnings or come to fully understand himself. For it is in such unscarred country beyond the marks of wheels, that a man really finds himself — knowing the warm feeling in his soul that only fear is the enemy and that true values are not measured in bank accounts cached away in artificial edifices of stone, but in depths of serenity and peace found where air is clean and water flows cold and pure.

CLASSES

UPPER SCHOOL

Juniors

The juniors, who are old pros in the upper school by now, were busy learning about colleges, college testing and the college fair, but still found time for varsity sports, clubs, and after school activities. They had a strong, eager, and successful class which had several fund-raising projects, all of which were successful.

Freshmen

Beginning with the annual Wilderness Trip the freshman class entered Upper School. A big change for many was from the open classroom situation to the closed classroom situation in the Upper School. The freshman class participated in almost every activity from varsity sports to the Computer Club.

Sophomores

The Sophomore class was a quiet group. They had adjusted to the "routines" of the Upper School and were having few problems. They were a class that learned the meaning of working together.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Fifth Grade

The fifth grade prepared and presented medieval day at the end of the year. Along with the feast there was jousting, maypole dance, and a juggling lesson. The fifth graders researched Medieval subjects such as: coats of arms, food and costumes. The fifth grade as well as the sixth grade have fabulous Friday. For an hour every Friday they participate in rocket, computer, camera, newspaper and other clubs. They can change clubs every eight weeks.

Sixth Grade

This year the sixth grade is civic minded. They won middle school can drive and put on a talent show for grandparents day which features piano, dancing, juggling and a mimes show. They are going on a camping trip to Camp Goddard in Oklahoma for government environmental studies. They will be there three days with a follow-up in school.

Seventh Grade

The seventh grade went on a Texas History trip to Austin and San Antonio to see the historic sites and learn about Texas culture at Christmas. They gave a community service performance, gifts and food to the W.B. Carroll school for physically handicapped children. The performances included Chanukah songs, the Christmas bird, which was a skit, and a skit on what Christmas means. In the spring, the seventh graders participated in Shane day in which they acted out the story in a play which they wrote themselves.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade enjoyed a trip to Love for Valentines Day. They have experienced a trimester schedule with certain electives such as choir, art, theatre, speech, and creative music. The eighth grade also played a major part in the musical The Stingiest Man in Town, for Christmas.

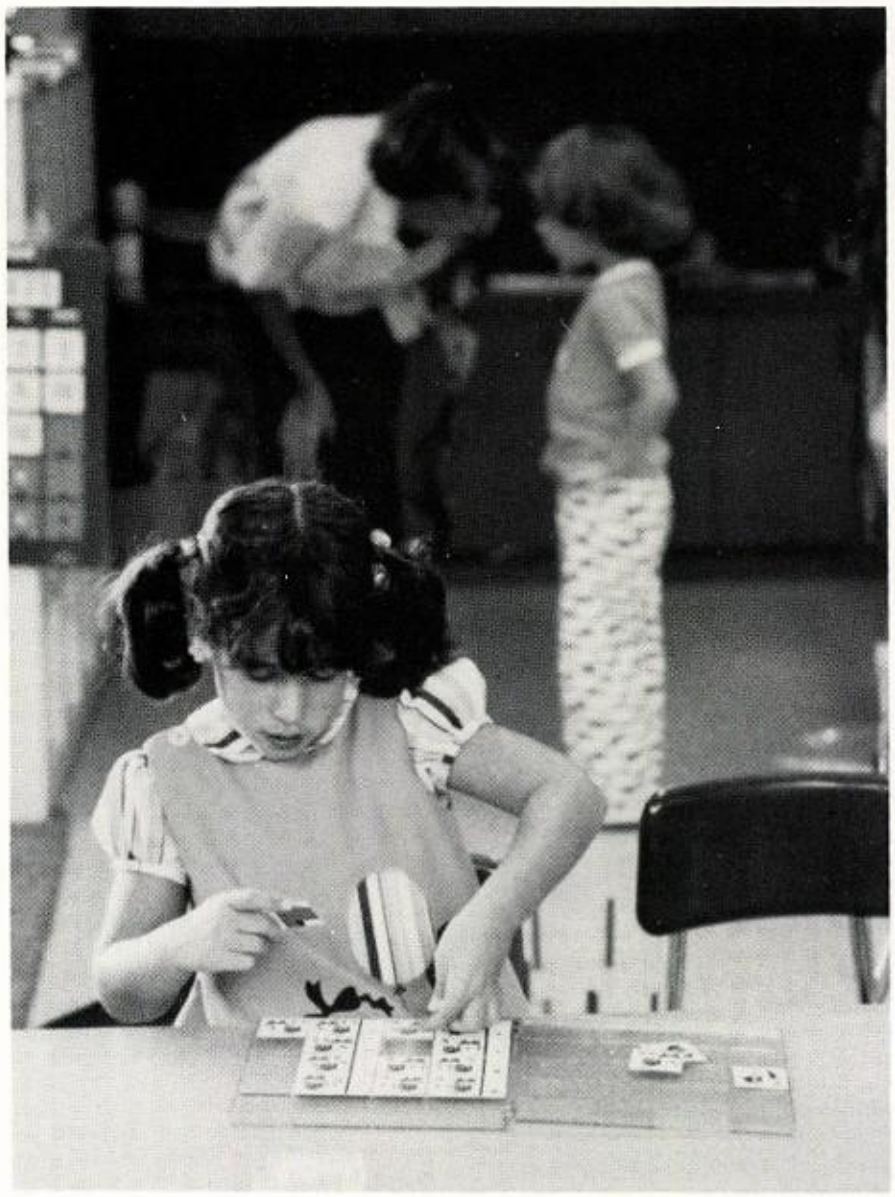
Lower School

Primer

What would you buy if you could buy anything in the world? What would you like to be when you grow up? When these questions were asked to Primers the answers varied. Most of the answers to the first question were generally related to what they wanted to be. One wanted to buy a diesel engine train, since he already had an electric train, and he wanted to be a train engineer. A large number of them wanted to be doctors or athletes.



Second Grade

Lack of uniforms, P.E. Serendipity, recess, teachers, math, science, phonics, art, funny library books, the friends they have made at Greenhill, were what the second graders liked about Greenhill.

First Grade

When the first graders were asked what were the differences between first grade and kindergarten, the answers they gave were the following: more homework . . . learning cursive . . . tote bags . . . phonics . . . two recesses . . . taking books home . . . eating in the cafeteria . . . going to the gym . . . rods . . . reading and social studies.

Third Graders

Who is your favorite hero? The third graders were asked this question and the answers were diverse. Some answers were to be expected, like T.V. stars and athletes. Other answers were . . . God, because he made mankind. My daddy, because when I'm sad he makes me feel happy. My mummy, because when I'm sick she takes care of me.

Fourth Grade

The fourth graders were asked what they were looking forward to in the Middle School. The key word seemed to be fun. They looked forward to the Middle School because of the trips . . . a bigger area . . . Medieval day . . . fun . . . a new building . . . fun clubs . . . football . . . P.E. . . . more friends . . . and more time on their own. They will miss things from fourth grade such as the animals.

How we treat you like a Cadillac owner.

At Sewell Village Cadillac, we provide you with services no other Texas dealer offers.

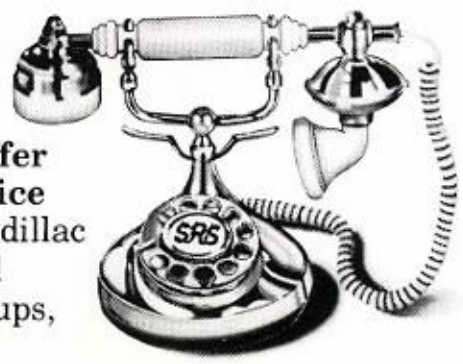
We offer a full day's use of a free car, when yours is indisposed.

It's our way of business to provide a standard of service equal to the incomparable automobile you drive. Because we make it our business to be something more to our customers.

And because we believe a Cadillac owner shouldn't settle for anything less.

We deliver your car after servicing, for a nominal fee.

We provide the Sewell Reservation System, which allows you to reserve a service date and time in advance. Simply call 526-8505.



In addition to these five special services, we offer frequent service specials for Cadillac owners—on oil changes, tune-ups, anti-freeze and more. You take advantage of the finest in Cadillac service, at considerable savings.

It's more than the finest Cadillac service in Texas. It's service with style—Cadillac style. At Sewell, we treat you like a Cadillac owner.

Our service department is open 6 days a week, not just 5.

We give you 8 free oil changes with your new Cadillac.
